WASHINGTON HUMAN

Even as You and I

GEORGE WASHINGTON was a very human person, with a personality that appealed to all groups of the public.

This delightful description of him appears in that comprehensive and intriguing volume by Professor Charles A. Beard and Mary Beard, "The Rise of American Civilization".

"Washington loved the best of clothes, super-fine scarlet cloth, gold lace, ruffled shirts and silver buckles.

"Whatever goods you may send me," he wrote to his factor in London, "let them be fashionable."

LIKED GOOD WINES

"His taste for good wines was known far and wide; though temperate for his day, he usually took four or five glasses of Madeira for dinner and finished off with a good draught of beer and a small glass of punch.

"A good horseman himself, Washington had a passion for horse races and indulged it by contributing to racing purses, entering his own steeds, attending the contests, and betting cautiously on his favorites.

"He heartily enjoyed games of chance; in his diary he often records 'bad weather, at home all day over cards'; but his bets were never extravagant. The largest winning entered in his account is three pounds and his largest loss nine pounds and fourteen shillings—equivalent to three or four hundred dollars in modern times.

SOME OF HIS PLEASURES

"Theater, circuses, and cock fights had an irresistible appeal for him. He was at the front at country balls in his neighborhood, in moderate drinking bouts at the tavern, and in fox-hunting parties.

"His own home was the scene of constant merry-making. In two months during the year 1768 he entertained at dinner or had guests for 29 days and dined away from home on seven, with other diversions in the meantime.

"Between his social obligations and the management of his estate, Washington had little time for literature, even in the days before heavy duties of state fell to his lot. In the journal that tells how he spent his hours, he entered in his youth two notices of works he had read. After that he either found no book worthy of mention or gave up reading entirely."

DAVIS, WALLACE TO CALL CONFAB OF U. S. LEADERS

House Votes 267-97 for Soil Conservation Plan of Government

TO REPLACE OUSTED AAA

25,000,000 Acres to Be Removed from Cultivation; President to Sign

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—(UP)—The New Deal geared its administrative machinery today to spend $500,000,000 in removing 25,000,000 acres from cultivation this year under the new farm relief program nearing enactment.

The soil conservation act designed to replace the invalidated AAA was passed late yesterday by the house and immediately sent to the senate, which approved it in slightly different form last week. The vote was 267 to 97.

The senate may approve the house bill vesting vast new powers in the secretary of agriculture or send it to a conference of house and senate agricultural leaders for adjustment with the milder senate measure.

Short Delay Probable

In either case the bill probably will reach President Roosevelt early next week and receive his immediate signature. Department of agriculture officials, however, expect a delay of several weeks before administrative details of the program are worked out.

Chester C. Davis, AAA administrator who will direct the new program, meanwhile, appealed to farmers to plant portions of their land in erosion-controlling crops. He asked them to have sufficient confidence in the new program to make the switch in crops before they know definitely what the government will do for them in return.

Davis estimated 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 acres of land would be switched from intense production crops to soil-conserving crops this year under the AAA, 34,000,000

SOLONS SHAKEN AS FLYER LANDS PLANE IN FIELD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—(UP)—Four congressmen continued their trip to Milwaukee today to attend the funeral of Gen. William Mitchell after a narrow escape from death or injury in a forced landing of their airplane.

The plane, an army transport, was forced down near Winchester, Va., by motor trouble an hour after leaving Washington. The pilot, Capt. W. Towle, made an emergency landing in a field.

No one was injured, although occupants of the plane were shaken by the rough landing and the plane was slightly damaged. After repairs the party continued the trip.

Those in the plane were Chairman John J. McSwain, D., S. C., of the house military affairs committee; Rep. John M. Costello, D., Calif.; Rep. Andrew Edmiston, D., W. Va.; and Rep. Matthew J. Merritt, D., N. Y.

STRIKERS ALLOW COAL SHIPMENTS TO TIRE COMPANY

AKRON, Feb. 22—(UP)—Fifty-one carloads of coal were moved into the strike besieged Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. plants today under a preliminary court order to avert an estimated $1,000,000 frost damage to equipment.

Picket lines relaxed peaceably to permit the coal to pass. At the same time, representatives of the striking workers prepared to oppose any ruling against mass picketing.

An effort of city officials to bring together strikers and the company management failed when a Goodyear spokesman said such negotiations would break faith with "a majority of Goodyear workers who want to work."

APPOINTMENT OF OFFICERS SUSTAINED IN CIVIL TEST

CHILLICOTHE, Feb. 22—Appointment of Chief Ben W. Rout and Captain Clark Graves in the police department, and Chief Harry Moore in the fire department, were sustained in examination conducted by the city civil service commission.

Chief Rout received a grade of 87, Graves 92, and Moore 87. None of the officers had opposition in the examinations.

GRAHAM, CASKEY, COUNCIL TO MEET MONDAY 9 A. M.

A meeting of the finance committee of council with Mayor W. J. Graham and Safety Director Charles Caskey, to "trash out" relief problems, has been tentatively set for 9 a. m. Monday, according to an announcement at noon Saturday.

The meeting will be held in the mayor's office and will be closed. One councilman reported he would be unable to attend a meeting at that time and there was a possibility the meeting time might be changed to the afternoon.

Members of the committee are Ben Gordon, chairman, C. O. Leist and Julius Helwagen.

CASKEY ASSAILS DEVICES

Safety Director Charles Caskey today gave Police Chief W. F. McCrady orders that all gambling devices, including slot machines, pinball machines and "every other kind of device" must be removed from Circleville business places before Wednesday morning.

The action follows similar moves in other central Ohio towns including Chillicothe and Lancaster.

Chief McCrady passed the order along to all business places that now permit them.

"The order has to be enforced," the police chief said, "and none are to be on display when stores open for business Wednesday morning."

In either case the bill probably will reach President Roosevelt early next week and receive his immediate signature. Department of agriculture officials, however, expect a delay of several weeks before administrative details of the program are worked out.

Chester C. Davis, AAA administrator who will direct the new program, meanwhile, appealed to farmers to plant portions of their land in erosion-controlling crops. He asked them to have sufficient confidence in the new program to make the switch in crops before they know definitely what the government will do for them in return.

1,000 STRICKEN, TYPHOID SERUM PUSHED TO CITY

Immediate Innoculation of Every Person in Coshocton Ordered Today

SUSPECT WATER SUPPLY

Town Practically Closed; Health Reports No One in Serious Condition

COSHOCTON, Feb. 22—(UP)—Health Commissioner J. D. Lower ordered the immediate inoculation of every man, woman and child in Coshocton today. Approximately 1,000 of the town's 10,000 citizens were ill from a mysterious intestinal infection believed to have been caused by contaminated drinking water.

A huge shipment of anti-typhoid serum arrives today from Columbus. Dr. Lower, assisted by local physicians, will begin inoculations immediately. No compulsion can be used, but the health commissioner felt that all citizens would submit voluntarily to end possibility of a typhoid epidemic.

Water Supply Suspected

Dr. Lower suspected that the mysterious intestinal ailment was caused by colon bacilli, often identified with typhoid fever. Chemical analysis of the city's water supply showed presence of this bacillus.

The many illnesses and the threat of more had all but closed down the town. All schools were closed, many businesses were closed, public meetings of all descriptions had been banned—even a high school basketball game was cancelled.

No one now ill is in a serious condition, although Dr. Lower feared that some cases might develop into typhoid.

Many Coshocton citizens were inoculated against typhoid last summer when a flood threatened to contaminate the city water supply. They will not have to be inoculated again.

FDR DISCUSSES 'MIND FREEDOM'

3,000 Hear Address at Temple's Founder Day Rites

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22—(UP)—President Roosevelt spoke today upon the necessity of "freedom of the mind" in education.

"True education depends upon freedom in the pursuit of truth," he told 3,000 persons celebrating Founder's day at Temple university which awarded Mr. Roosevelt the honorary degree of doctor of jurisprudence.

"No group," he said, "and no government can properly prescribe precisely what should constitute the body of knowledge with which true education is concerned. The truth is found when men are free to pursue it.

"It is this belief in the freedom of the mind, written into our fundamental law and observed in our every day dealings with the problems of life, that distinguishes us as a nation."

Mr. Roosevelt took advantage of the Washington anniversary to issue in satiric vein—a warning against the current practice of citing quotations from the works of historical personages.

"George Washington," Mr. Roosevelt said, "deeply appreciated the importance of education in a republic and the responsibility of the government to promote it. Let this simple statement stand by itself without the proof of quotation."

FLOOD MENACES OHIO VALLEY AS RELIEF IS SPED

Ice Gorge Breaks, Trapping Many Families; Rescue Attempts Made

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 22—(UP)—Flood menace from the surging, ice-choked Ohio river increased today after a temporary break in the gorge between Newburg, Ind., and Owensboro, Ky., flooded much lowland and threatened vast damage.

The stream climbed a foot in 14 minutes during the break and last night stood at 39.3 feet, more than four feet above flood stage.

Lighthouse keeper George Peek and his family were marooned in a flimsy house on stilts at the mouth of the Green river after a cutter failed to break through ice to them.

Engineers stood by the $600,000 Mead-Johnson river-rail terminal here as huge floods threatened to sweep away its weakened piers. They were prepared to blast the ice with dynamite.

The heavy ice is backed up stream 100 miles from the tremendous gorge at Uniontown, Ky., which has created a dam.

Meteorologist M. S. Collon said that if the upstream gorge broke first it would shoot the stream eight feet above flood stage and send down ice that would crush everything in its path.

Red Cross officials in Washington dispatched Disaster Worker Charles W. Carr to Evansville to care for distressed families.

Twelve persons were rescued by coast guardsmen this week from an island near Henderson, Ky., after floods inundated their homes.

U. S. Chief Engineers C. J. Rhodes at Paducah, Ky., said he expected no immediate trouble below Uniontown because of a clear stream. A heavy rain, however, would prove dangerous, he said.

RENICK TO ENTER RACE FOR STATE U. S. SENATE JOB

Republican Chairman Has His Petition in Circulation in County

ONLY CANDIDATE IN FIELD

Pickaway G. O. P. May Send Eight to State Convention; Dates Not Fixed

Tom A. Renick, attorney and chairman of the Pickaway-co Republican executive committee, today announced his candidacy for the nomination for senator from the 10th Ohio district, which includes Pickaway and Franklin-cos.

Petitions are being circulated by friends.

Mr. Renick's announcement has been expected for quite a while. The district at present is represented by Paul Ginger, Republican, and August Weber, Democrat, residents of Columbus.

It has been a long while since Pickaway-co has had proper representation in the state senate, and business and political leaders, Democratic and Republican, believe something should be done about it. W. I. Spangler of Tarlton served in the senate several years ago and C. C. Chappeler preceded him several years.

Hunsicker For Assembly
No Democrat has as yet announced candidacy, although Clark K. Hunsicker, W. Union-st., is circulating his petition for his second term in the House of Representatives. Mr. Hunsicker's work in the interest of the county has been above reproach.

An election similar to that of four years ago is a possibility in Pickaway-co with all four men who contested at that time now in the race.

Ralph E. May and Burr Rader, Democrats, who were elected commissioners, are seeking their party's nominations again, while Marvin Dreisbach and Edgar Beatty whom May and Rader defeated, are back in the Republican race, seeking the nomination. There are many other candidates for the nominations in the two parties.

Pickaway-co's quota for the Republican state convention will be four delegates and four alternates, according to a notice received by the Board of Elections from the Republican State Central committee.

Candidates for the positions must file with the Board of Elections by March 13. They will be elected at the primary. The quota is established on the basis of one delegate and one alternate for each 1000 votes.

Dates for the convention have not been established. Electors will be named at the convention for each congressional district and their names will appear on the election ballot.

No information has been received locally of the Democratic state convention.

OHIO ASSEMBLY TO RESUME JOB; VETOES STUDIED

Members Meet Tuesday After Month's Rest; Fate of Measures Uncertain

COLUMBUS, Feb. 22.—(UP)—A month's adjournment for the Ohio general assembly will end here Tuesday when members return to consider measures which were blocked earlier by budget and relief consideration.

Unemployment insurance, social security legislation, and Governor Davey's item vetoes of the new budget will, will no doubt be the big issues before the legislature. The Boyd unemployment insurance bill passed the house on Jan. 16, by a large majority, 92 to 11, will be before the Senate. The bill is still in the hands of the Senate welfare committee, which has been conducting hearings since the adjournment.

To Consider Bill

The committee is scheduled Tuesday to consider proposed amendments to the bill, before deciding whether there shall be further hearings.

The fate of other social security bills, including provision for additional funds for mothers' pensions, dependent children, needy blind and crippled, all designed to enable Ohio to share in the allocation of federal funds for these purposes, is uncertain.

These bills have likewise passed the house, and must be considered by the Senate.

Expressions were heard on some sides that the session would last but a few days, and practically eliminate time for consideration of the security bills.

What action the assembly takes with regard to the governor's veto of items totaling $3,002,000 in the new $90,000,000 biennial appropriations budget bill, will be decided after the law-makers return here and have an opportunity to study the situation.

Advance indications were that a majority of both houses are opposed to passing all the vetoed appropriations over the governor's disapproval.

JOURNALISM (An Editorial)

What qualities must one have to be a good journalist?

Many times during the current year this question has been asked. The question began when a journalism class was to be selected from long list of applicants. Later still, many underclassmen have been inquiring this same questions.

Many qualities are necessary in order to become a good journalist. First, one must ask oneself, "Am I fitted for journalism?" Just the fact that one was a scribe for one's Girl Scout troop or that one wrote news for the annual is not sufficient evidence to assure one success as a journalist.

There are many types of journalists but for the average news-gatherer there are perhaps seven necessary qualities. First, a good background of English fundamentals is needed in order to insure lucid writing.

Next, a most important part of a journalist's makeup is reliability. This point cannot be stressed too much. Unless reliable a journalist is almost worthless.

In order to lift himself above the crowd, a good writer must also have both originality and imagination. Even in factual writing such as is done in news-work, these qualities are of the utmost importance.

Ambition, too, is as needed in a journalistic career as it is in any other field of work.

Also an essential, and especially in newspaper work, is accuracy. Once, and only, can stories go to press. Accuracy must be assured. Lastly, and that which is the under tone of all writing of news-work, is adaptability. In many fields this is the ability to adjust oneself to any situation; in journalistic work this is primarily the faculty of being able to rank things, happenings, or facts, in the order of their importance.

INNOVATION TO BE MADE IN JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

Something new and novel in the way of Class plays will be presented this year by the members of the Junior Class of Circleville high school.

This year's Junior Class play "The Boomer" will feature, instead of story or dialogue as has been done in the past, costumes of the early twentieth century style.

This type of feature has been added to the production in the hope that more enthusiasm will be created by it than by a play of the present era.

Rosemary Hammel and Eleanor Radcliff will be in charge of making this new and important feature a success; they are in charge of the costumes.

The members of the cast, who have already been selected and are practicing diligently, are Dorothy Avis, Jack E. Brown, Jack Brown, Wahinta Barnhart, Ruby Chalfin, Joe Cook, Jessie Dresbach, Faye Elliot, Don Henry, Montford Kirkwood, Rosemary Neuding and John Rankin.

"The Boomer" is a play by Howard Reed with Longmans, Green and Company as the publishers.

The play is to be presented in the High School auditorium Thursday and Friday, March 12 and 13. Tickets will be sold by members of the Junior Class starting March 2, while reserve seat tickets will be sold at the Hamilton and Ryan drug store on March 10.

Proceeds from this play will help finance the Junior-Senior banquet.

BAKE SALE PLANNED

No definite place has, as yet, been set for the Journalism class Bake Sale to be held on Saturday, February 29.

MISS RAINS HONORED, BUT AGE IS SECRET

The seniors in room 10, having been tense and dignified for so long a period, burst forth Friday afternoon with a genuine fruit for "ye dear old teacher."

The recipient was Miss Rains, jester of one-half the senior pupils. Friday morning on entering room 10, a big "Happy Birthday" was written across the front board. After everyone had assembled the "dignified upperclassmen" sang "Happy Birthday, Dear Teacher."

Everything remained dignified until Friday noon when with the raising of a crutch the beavens seemed to open and fruits of all sorts poured forth; seemingly a Cornucopia.

When the avalanche was over a bright young gentlemanlike senior, namely Rich Harman asked Miss Rains how old she was.

Miss Rains replied, "Well, last year I was sweet sixteen so that makes me about seventeen this year."

MEMBERS OF HI-Y CLUB SWIM IN Y. M. C. A. POOL

At last several anxious mermen received their long awaited swim when the members of the High School Hi-Y club journeyed to the Y. M. C. A. in Columbus on Thursday evening.

The Hi-Y clubs of the many high schools are a branch of the Y. M. C. A.

The swim, an annual affair of the club, is always a gala event and, this year, was made possible through the courtesy of Mr. May who is the Secretary of the Town and Country branch of the Central Ohio "Y" club.

The trip was made in several cars furnished by the boys. Twelve of the members made the journey.

It is very probable that the trip will be made again in the near future.

Mr. Reger, who is the advisor of the group, accompanied the boys.

TWENTY EIGHT PUPILS COMPOSE VIOLIN CLASS

Mr. C. F. Zaenglein, band and orchestra conductor, has just organized a String class of twenty eight members in Circleville high school.

The class is composed of twenty violins, two violas, three cellos, and three bass viols.

The main object in teaching the pupils free of charge, as Mr. Zaenglein is doing, is to obtain violinists for his orchestra in coming years.

The Violin classes were started several years ago and the students have been progressing rapidly under the tutelage of Mr. Zaenglein.

STUDENT OPINION

Do you think that Circleville high school should have a dramatics class?

Eva Mae Kanode, Senior: I think that we should have such a course in C. H. S. because in high school we lay the foundation for our life. Many students have a talent that should be developed and they may never again find such an opportunity to do so.

Jack Brown, Junior: No! We have enough dramatics in the class plays and one or two others presented during the year. Dramatics take too much time.

Mary Crites, Junior: Yes, I think that we should have a Dramatics class because we have sufficient talent. A dramatics class would give the pupils a chance to show their ability to act, and I believe everyone would be willing to participate.

John Griffith, Senior: Under the present crowded conditions a dramatics class would be only an added burden. But if conditions are improved, as planned, I think a dramatic class would be a great success.

Louise Helwigen, Sophomore: Yes, the plays that we have had, have proven that ability to act and talent are available, and should be given an opportunity to cultivate this.

Wanda Seymour, Freshman: Yes, because some people who are ambitious and can act, may not have a chance to do so. I think a dramatics class would be "swell."

Annual Lent Services to Open Season

Most Churches Plan Exercises Wednesday; Day of Prayer is Friday

Wednesday marks the beginning of the annual Lenten season with all churches of the city and community to usher in the period with services.

Many special sermons are planning Wednesday evening with Lenten subjects.

On Friday the annual Day of Prayer will be observed by union services in the Methodist Episcopal church at 2 p. m. The public is welcome to this service.

In 1935, more than fifty countries kept the World Day of Prayer. These meetings are always held on the first Friday in Lent.

The Day begins in New Zealand and the Fiji Islands and as the day progresses, new groups in city, town, countryside and hamlet, join in praise and prayer, until after some forty hours, the day ends at Gambell on St. Lawrence Island, off the coast of Alaska—30 miles from the date line and the same distance from the Arctic Circle.

All these groups are using the one theme for meditation and prayer, "On Earth Peace—Goodwill Toward Men" and are praying that we may be one in our service for Jesus Christ, that barriers of race and class may be broken, that men may find the way by which individuals and nations can live together in peace and understanding.

The program to be used this year was prepared by Senorita Laura Jorquera of Santiago, Chile. It is noteworthy that she chose to place in the heart of the program, the story of "The Christ of the Andes", the immense bronze statue on the boundary line between Argentina and Chile which commemorates the Peace Pact of 1901.

Another of the book review series will be given at the Presbyterian church Friday at 8 p. m. by Mrs. Depew Head.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Luke 8:1-56

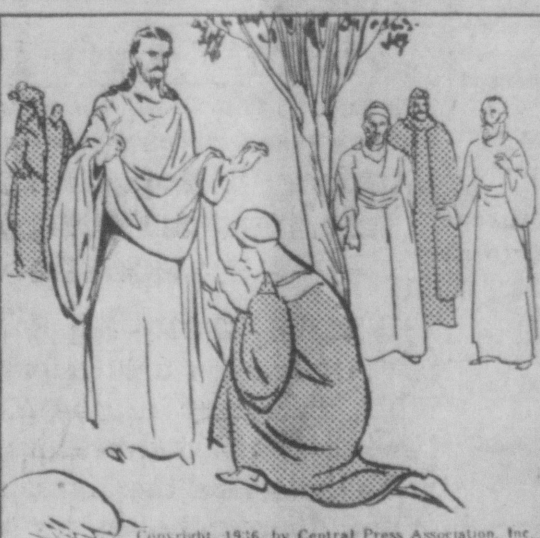

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Jesus often warned against putting money first in life. Life consists not in the abundance of things possessed. In the storms of life it is the presence of Christ with us that counts. He gives peace that money cannot buy.

In healing a man possessed of evil spirits Jesus permitted the spirits to go into a herd of swine which then rushed into the sea and were drowned. Their owners ordered Jesus to leave because they cared more for hogs than for men.

Health is to be valued above wealth. A woman sick twelve years gave all she had to get health. At last she touched Jesus in a crowd and her faith was rewarded with healing.

The only daughter of Jairus lay dead and Jesus came and raised her to life. Jairus believed and his faith brought a blessing that no money could buy. Money is valueless in comparison with life.

Poems That Live

COMMON PLACES

After Heine

Rain on the face of the sea,
Rain on the sodden land,
And the window-pane is blurred
with rain
As I watch it, pen in hand.

Mist on the face of the sea,
Mist on the sodden land,
Filling the vales as daylight fails,
And blotting the desolate sand.

Voices from out of the mist,
Calling to one another:
"Hath love an end, thou more
than friend,
Thou dearer than ever brother?"

Voices from out of the mist,
Calling and passing away:
But I cannot speak, for my voice
is weak.
And . . . this is the end of my
lay.

—Rudyard Kipling.

"People Before Property"

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb. 23 is Luke 8:1-56, especially 26-37, the Golden Text being Luke 16:13, "No servant can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one and love the other; or else he will hold to one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.")

those people an illicit traffic forbidden by their laws. Despite this, Christ's action aroused great indignation in the community.

Hogs Versus Men

"They went out to see what had come to pass; and they came to Jesus and found the man from whom the demons were gone out, sitting clothed and in his right mind, at the feet of Jesus; and they that saw it told them how he that was possessed with demons was made whole. And all the people of the country of the Gerasenes round about asked him to depart from them." A man was saved but some hogs had been lost, and the community was so hog-minded and hog-blinded it could not see the man "clothed and in his right mind." So they ordered Christ to leave their community. To them our Lord represented a menace because he put men above their illicit hog business.

Property vs. Life and Health

The relative value of life and health as compared with property is illustrated in the healing of the woman who touched the hem of Christ's garment and in the raising to life of the daughter of Jairus. The woman had spent all her wealth in a vain search for health only to find it through faith in Christ. Likewise Jairus believed Christ and death turned to life in his child. Money could buy neither health nor life. These came as Christ's blessings upon faith. Why, then, belittle faith and magnify something infinitely inferior into an "almighty dollar"?

FEAR SEIZES DICTATORS

DURING the early days of 1933, the Nazi Government of Germany resorted to extreme violence to strike terror to the hearts of inharmonious elements of the German people. The "blood bath" of June 30, 1934, when Ernst Roehm, General von Schleicher and other prominent citizens, virtually all of them anti-Nazi leaders, were murdered in cold blood, was another manifestation of the surging up of emotions of fear within the breast of Hitler.

The latest recurrence of violent oppression, directed against the Jews and Catholics of Germany, may with every justification be interpreted as an evidence of another seizure of that deadly fear that so often chills the heart of the dictator. The natural reaction to this emotion is the adoption of repressive measures against defenseless and, in most instances, inoffensive groups of citizens.

Apparently, Hitler trusts no one and sees enemies every place. The same is true of Mussolini, who cannot escape the realization that the impoverishment of the Italian people is growing and the popularity of the Fascist regime declining. Il Duce is reported as being so suspicious of even his closest associates that he dares not so much as think of making provision for a successor. Potential rivals are quickly retired from public scrutiny in Italy or else buried in obscure colonial posts.

Paul H. Douglass, professor of economics at the University of Chicago, has returned from a three-month stay in Italy with the report that it is very doubtful that Mussolini's dictatorship will last another year. That of Hitler, judging by recent evidence of anxiety and instability, does not rest upon sounder foundations.

No man is really as brave and self-satisfied as he feels after finally having a tooth pulled.

Yet every once in a while you come across an old-fashioned church that still opposes sin.

In lieu of a hobby sometimes a bad habit will keep a man from getting lonesome.

LONDON CAMP CLAIMS OGDEN MILLS AS LATEST RECRUIT, DESERTING HOOVER

WASHINGTON—Supporters of Governor Alf Landon are claiming that Ogden Mills, Secretary of the Treasury under Hoover, has parted with his one-time chief and climbed on the Kansan's bandwagon. When Hoover began his political comeback last year, the inside word in Republican circles was that he had the moral and financial backing of Mills... Lowest political temperature of the current blustery winter was reached at Springfield, Ill., on Lincoln's birthday when Secretary Ickes and Governor Gene Talmadge met for the first time. Outside of an icy "how-do-you-do" the two men said nothing to each other... Sullivan and Cromwell, leading New York law firm which received a $75,000 fee to oppose the Holding Company Act, is counsel in the important Sugar Institute case now pending in the Supreme Court. A number of leading industries seek an interpretation from the Court liberalizing the anti-trust statutes... Senator Lester J. Dickinson, Iowa's presidential aspirant, was the butt of much good-natured cloak-room railway following the TVA decision. Dickinson is a strong foe of TVA, and the day before the Court's decision he declared: "If there had to be a choice between the Senate and the Supreme Court I would rather see the Senate abolished." Next day the Court upheld the TVA.

Attorney General Homer Cummings, in a frank comment on the Supreme Court: "It's a good thing crime isn't popular, or we should probably find the Supreme Court invalidating the federal crime laws, such as the Lindbergh kidnaping act."

INCREASED NEED

Washington headquarters of the Conference of Mayors has notified federal relief authorities that as a result of the severe and protracted cold spell, cities in all parts of the country report a marked increase in relief demands. So heavy is the unanticipated drain on local resources that the Mayors' Conference is revising its estimates for federal aid next year, and is planning to ask Congress for a $3,000,000,000 appropriation... Chairman William Connery, Jr., of the House Labor Committee, is putting his bonus money to a novel use. He plans to establish a trust fund for his 11-year-old daughter... Aubrey Williams, one of Harry Hopkins' five Assistant Administrators, has been definitely elevated to No. 2 man in the WPA organization. He has been given the title of Deputy Administrator, thus officially ranking him above Corrington Gill, Jacob Baker, Lawrence Westbrook, and Mrs. Ellen S. Woodward... So far only nine states have enacted unemployment insurance acts to conform with the federal Social Security law.

READ THIS FIRST:
Thora Dahl, who has left her home in Minnesota and journeyed east, obtains a position as housekeeper for an eccentric gentleman named Selwyn Marsh who lives in suburban New York. Thora meets Sherman Gordon, a friend of Marsh and his daughter, Wilma, who is away. Marsh is writing a history book and Thora helps him in the process. Wilma, a musical artist, displays much curiosity over the attractive housekeeper. Sherman Gordon comes for dinner. Thora realizes that Wilma seems to resent her presence in the Marsh home. Dottie Steele, a neighbor widow, who is said to have designs on Marsh, displays a cool attitude towards Thora when she drops in to talk to Marsh.

CHAPTER 19
MARSH RAPPED the ash from his pipe noisily.
"Wilma's in bed now," he observed harshly. "That's where she'll be every day until noon unless she's changed a lot. The house can't run itself. Miss Dahl does it very well. And, just for that, I'm to tell her to eat in the kitchen."
"But, Selwyn," protested Mrs. Steele.
"That's the answer," he interrupted. "Miss Dahl's doing Mrs. Myron's job. She's entitled to all that goes with it as long as she does her work. I don't mind associating with her. She lets me alone."
"Really?"
"She's educated, and a lady," for all I know. She knows more about her country than any woman I've talked to in a long time. And Pat tells me she can take her fences like a man. There was a faint suggestion of malice in Selwyn's tone.
"I see," Mrs. Steele forced herself to smile. "I'm afraid I didn't quite understand the situation. However, you should be considerate of Wilma. After all..."
"After all, she may not be around here a week," Marsh reminded. "I had a world of trouble in finding someone for Mrs. Myron's place. What's the use in turning the house topsy-turvy for Wilma? She isn't going to bother her head about me."
"It's really too bad," Mrs. Steele mused gently. "That this young woman is so attractive. In a fashion you know how people are. Selwyn. They're almost sure to make remarks."
"About what?" he demanded.
"About you, my dear. And Wilma. Her friends might make her..."

all of us... just a little uncomfortable. Just because they don't understand. "I can't be bothered," Marsh permitted himself to smile grimly. "Sherm was here for dinner last night. He seemed to think that Miss Dahl was all right." "I was thinking of Sherm," Mrs. Steele said significantly. "He's a nice boy... but, after all, he's a susceptible type." "So what?" "Well, my dear, he's Wilma's closest friend. They really grew up together and..." "What of it?" "Why, you know we've always thought they would marry some day." "Have we?" "Of course. Sherm comes of an impeccable family. They have money and position. He's a brilliant young man and has..." "An overworked sense of humor," "He has everything a young girl could ask for. Wilma couldn't hope to do better than marry him. He's always been very fond of her, and I know that she likes him. Now that she is at home again, it is only natural that Sherm will be around here more than ever. It would be too bad if..." "Here come the British. With a bang... bang!" Singing blithely, Mr. Sherman Gordon strolled through the library window.
"Good morning, Mrs. Dorothy. Good morning, Sir Jephthah. Did I hear someone taking my name in vain just now? Or did I?" "Likely," Marsh growled.
"Is the lady of the house about?" "Wilma is sleeping," Mrs. Steele informed him promptly. "The poor child is worn out after her trip. We did New York very thoroughly while we were there. Wilma has so many friends... they kept both of us on the go." "I see," Mrs. Steele forced herself to smile. "You're looking very fresh and charming," Gordon assured her. "That's sweet of you, my dear. But you should save those nice things for Wilma." Gordon stood uncertainly for a moment, slapping one booted leg with his cron. He turned to Marsh. "I was riding around this way... so I thought I'd lead the mare over Ellen. I mean I was saying to Miss Dahl last night that I thought she'd like to try her out. Do you mind telling her?" "I'll tell her." "Pat put Ellen in one of your extra boxes. I'm in no hurry for her. In fact, she doesn't get as much exercise as she should. I believe she'll suit Miss Dahl very well. I don't think you should let a woman ride Ginger, anyway. He's not safe." "Do you mean that your housekeeper has been riding that horse?" Mrs. Steele was startled into exclaiming: "He's the only one I have she cares for," Marsh assured her. "Thou suggestion of malice again tinged his words. Dorothy Steele had an inborn fear of horses. Jordan also grinned appreciatively. "Where do you suppose she ever learned to ride like that?" he quired suddenly. "She was a horse trainer," Marsh remarked dryly. "She told me so." "You don't mean... a professional?" "Didn't ask." Gordon started to say something then thought better of it. "Tell Wilma if she feels up to go this afternoon, I'll go around with her. She can get me at the house." "Not working today?" Marsh suggested. "On my vacation. I'm celebrating Wilma's return." "She will be very glad. I know," Mrs. Steele assured him with a smile. "Selwyn!" she exclaimed brightly. "Let's you and me go with the children this afternoon... make it a foursome!" "Too busy." "Now, that isn't nice. I've been away and you turn down my very first request. Come along, like a good boy." She left her chair and came to stand beside him. "Sure," Gordon seconded hospitably. "Let your new secretary do your work while you take some exercise. Wilma tells me that Miss Dahl's a typist. I might borrow her some day to help me with my home work." "I'll go out a while," Marsh responded ungraciously. "If you'll clear out now and let me get to work." "That afternoon, from an upper window, Thora watched the golfers start across a nearby meadow. Mrs. Steele and Wilma in trim sports suits, walking close together, chatting. Marsh trailed them at a distance. He had donned linen plus fours for the occasion. His head was bent and he slashed at an occasional weed with the putter that swung from his right hand. Pfeffermuse tolled through the grass at his master's heels, keeping an attentive eye on the stick. Thora smiled to herself as she watched the little procession out of sight. Womanlike, she was allowing herself to speculate about Mrs. Steele's hair. (TO BE CONTINUED)

NO WONDER THEY WIN
IT REQUIRES constant and keen competition to bring out the best that each player can develop. Maine has a score of teams of men and women from pairs and quartets. The clubs between different cities and towns are both keen and constant. No wonder they play well. Today we have a sample hand played by a team which has won its last seven straight matches. This sample, and numerous others from members of this and other teams, offer evidence of a high order of skill.

Bidding went: West, 1-Club; North, 1-Diamond; South, 1-Spade; North, 2-Spades; South, 3-Spades; North, 4-Spades.

The opening lead was the K of clubs. Then West shifted to a lead of his J of diamonds through dummy's strength. The K of that suit won in dummy. The lone Q of hearts lost to West's Ace.

Going back to his clubs West led the Q, that declarer ruffed. South took account of stock. He had lost 2 of the 4 tricks played to date. He had to lose at least one trump trick possibly two. In addition he had in some way to avoid loss of a diamond trick, or he surely would be down at least one trick on his game contract. An elimination play appeared the saving hope. It was far from being a certainty.

Declarer led his K of hearts and discarded thereon the last one of dummy's clubs. Dummy ruffed the declarer's last heart. This eliminated both hearts and clubs from both dummy and declarer's hand. The Ace of spades was led. Fortunately it picked up a trump from both defenders' hands, leaving one of them with the lone K. At the moment declarer could not tell which adversary held the good spade. The Ace of diamonds was led at the eighth trick, picking up West's 10 of diamonds and leaving East with the lone Q. The holdings about the table were as shown below.

♠ J 10
♥ 9 6 2

♠ K
♥ 10
♦ A 8 7

♠ J 8

♦ J 6
♣ Q

At the ninth trick the 10 of spades was led. If East held the top trump he could lead the good diamond and put the contract down a trick. East discarded a club. West was in for his last trick, with the top trump. He had nothing to lead back but a heart or club, and no matter which he led dummy could ruff while declarer discarded his last diamond, fulfilling his contract in the only way possible.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

A great deal has been said in this column concerning the belief of progressive that President Roosevelt has let them down. But, in opposition political circles, there is a fear that the president, once he gets into the thick of the campaign, will resort to a dramatic maneuver of some kind that will sweep the progressives toward him again—especially the two groups that he needs. Those two groups are the near-to-the-line Socialists of the large cities and the farmers of the northwest and the northern part of the mid-west.

NO LAND UNCLAIMED

Nor will the Roosevelt campaign forces leave any territory unclaimed. They will strike heavily into Michigan, where Senator Vandenberg holds sway, and into Kansas, where Alf M. Landon is governor. They already claim Mr. Hoover's home state, California. And they insist they will march through Pennsylvania. But, at the moment, it does not look as if the Pittsburgh industrial region will roll up enough Roosevelt votes to overcome normally Republican Philadelphia and the adjacent region.

And New England is not yet looked upon as wholly lost. If factories and mills become very busy New England workers may take a favorable view of the New Deal.

SOVIET HITS BACK

Japan's protests over the Soviet's protection of Outer Mongolian borders against violations from Manchoukou actually are walls of surprise. This is the first actual resistance Japan has met in its expansionist program. Soviet border forces are said to have soundly defeated a force of Manchoukou-Japanese troops which penetrated 12 miles into Outer Mongolia.

The worst of it is, in Japan's eyes, Great Britain evidently approves tacitly of the Soviet's back-slaps at Japan.

Japanese militarists have been trying for some time to center Japanese attention on "attacks" on Japan "from communistic Outer Mongolia". There is a Japanese election this month, and anti-militarists have been making great strides, it is said. A new wave of nationalistic fervor "was needed."

CAR SHORTAGE

Railroads are facing a shortage of coal cars in the spring. There will be a rush to have cars built—but coal moving from mines to the Great Lakes for transshipment to the northwest, may be delayed.

Coal cars, which have been dwindling for five years, have been spread "all over the map" during the frigid weather, in an effort to rush coal wherever it has been needed. It will take months to draw those cars back to home roads and mines.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

The Eshelman Milling Co. is reporting splendid business, shipping an average of eight cars a day.

William Dunford, Circleville native, has been retired by the Pennsylvania railroad after 45 years' service.

DIET AND HEALTH

Inadequate Light Causes Nervous Fatigue

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
SCIENTIFIC experiments prove that ocular fatigue and nervous fatigue are greater under conditions of improper illumination. Although it seems like a platitude to say that adequate illumination is necessary for comfortable eye work, it is more neglected in practice than observed.

All over the land people are trying to do visual work with inadequate illumination. You can read an eye chart of small letters with ample illumination. You can perceive motion better when there is ample light. And yet in the home and in the office offenses against the three rules of adequate light, glare and proper color are constantly observed.

Colors Not Equally Sharp
In the matter of color, it is not always realized that perfectly normal eyes do not perceive all colors with equal sharpness. As you look at the spectrum or the rainbow, you will notice that the colors at the violet end tend to fade out. The color which is most readily perceived by the normal eye is yellow, next it perceives green. Red, blue and violet must be made much brighter in order to experience an equal light sensation. Perhaps this is the reason so many automobile accidents occur at intersections against light signals. At any rate, in these foggy, dim days, avoiding the shades of red, blue and violet is advised.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of," "Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Marian Martin Pattern

MARIAN MARTIN DESIGNS A SIMPLE FROCK FOR PORCH- AND-HOUSE WEAR

Dusting or baking—this frock's apt to find itself in the thick of it. Worthy of the phrase "Beginner's Fashion" (for it cuts its yoke and sleeves in one)—it invites both novice and experienced dressmaker to make it up, and promises that the entire frock may be finished in just a few short hours. You'll appreciate an ample square neckline when you come to slip it over your head, and the fact it's collarless when you come to iron it. Note the high-rising skirt panels, and the way a perky sash nips 'round the waist? It's nice this very minute as a house frock—and for porch and garden, later. Choose percale, seersucker or gingham. Complete. Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 5439 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric. ## NEW IN BRIMS

This Clever Hat Is Answer to a Maiden's Prayer for Something Different

THERE ARE moments when we feel that we, personally, will never find a new hat that is becoming. We cannot wear those tiny things that perch over one eye, even when they have veils provided to lend a softening influence over our countenance. We're tired of brims because they WILL sail off when the wind blows strongly, even if we think they're firmly attached by pin or elastic. We don't like 'em shallow and we can't wear 'em high, and what else is there? Such a hat as that photographed is one answer. It has a brim, it is true, but it has a sharp turned down front effect, and a decidedly turned-up effect at the back and it sets down well on the head. The trimming consists of ribbon and white feather leaves. The hat itself is a brown ballbunt. It would seem to be the answer to our prayer. There is such a diversity of styles apparent in this season's millinery fashions. Quite a few with clever manipulations to the crowns. Many crowns are built down at the back with brims omitted, which makes them practical for immediate wear with winter wraps. Other crowns have creases and tucks. In the picture above note the clever slots which disclose the unique use of the new flowered print lining of the model's coat.

Menu Hint

Fricadelli With Onions
Baked Fish With Vegetables or Brazzoli Vegetable Salad
Apple Pie Coffee

I am giving you the recipes for three unusual, appetizing economical dishes for today's meal. Take your choice, but try them all. They are worth filing.

Today's Recipes

Fricadelli With Onions.—One-half pound ground meat (beef and pork), one egg, one-half cup milk, two tablespoons flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon minced green pepper, one tablespoon minced onion, one tablespoon minced celery, three tablespoons cooking fat, one tablespoon butter, six medium sized white onions. Peel onions, slice and cook five minutes in boiling salted water. Drain. Sauté minced celery, onion and pepper in butter until golden brown. Mix meat, egg, milk, flour, baking powder, salt and sautéed vegetables together and BEAT well. The mixture is like a very stiff batter. Have ready the frying pan with fat very hot. Drop meat mixture into fat by tablespoonfuls and shape into patties. Fry only until brown on both sides and remove to a shallow casserole, cover with the onions and sprinkle over the onions two teaspoons light brown sugar. Pour over the onions the fat remaining in the pan, cover the casserole and bake for 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Remove cover during the last fifteen or twenty minutes of baking. The onions should be a delicate brown. Serves three or four.

Baked Fish With Vegetables.—One cup carrots, one cup celery, one cup onions, one clove garlic, two pounds fish, one-half cup butter, one teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, one cup bread crumbs, two tablespoons Parmesan cheese. Dice vegetables and place in a well greased two-quart casserole. Cut fish into slices, but preserve the appearance of a whole fish by not slicing through the top skin. Dip fish in melted butter, place on top of vegetables. Sprinkle with salt, pepper. To remaining melted butter, add bread crumbs. Dress top of fish with crumbs and cheese. Cover and bake for 45 minutes at 50 degrees. Paprika sprinkled over top adds color. Serves six.

Brazzoli.—One and one-half pounds round steak, two tablespoons melted fat, one large onion, one clove garlic, one red or green pepper, six sprigs parsley, six celery tops (leaves, small celery) one large can tomatoes, one can tomato paste, one pound spaghetti. Chop celery, parsley, onion, garlic and pepper very fine or run through food chopper. Cut steak in strips about five inches long and two inches wide. Spread chopped mixture on meat and roll up, using two toothpicks, or wrap with thread to hold in place. Salt and pepper generously. Place meat rolls in hot fat and fry until brown, about 25 minutes. Add tomatoes and tomato paste and cook four hours very slowly. Cook spaghetti in rapidly boiling salt water until tender, twelve to fifteen minutes. Drain through sieve, place on large platter, or on serving plates if left unbroken when cooking. Dot with butter, pour sauce on spaghetti, surround with meat rolls and sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Half a pound of mushrooms added to sauce an hour before serving improves the sauce but adds to the cost.

BABY Bobby Linsig of Marlborough, N. Y., aged 1, born with out an esophagus, doesn't taste anything he eats but seems happy and well on the way to a long life as he takes his nourishment through lect by housekeepers in favor of more fancy appearing concoctions. But men and children prefer the filling, nourishing dishes such as the old favorite pot roast. Here is one delicious recipe for it.

Lamb Stew is Economical
When lamb stew is the main dish of the dinner, no other cooked vegetables need be prepared, other than those in the stew. But with a fruit cocktail to begin, a green salad, bread and butter, the beverage and a simple dessert, the family meal is complete. And guests like such a meal too. Good food, simply prepared is always more satisfying than fussy dishes.

Dumplings
One cup flour; three teaspoons baking powder; one half teaspoon salt; six tablespoons cold water or milk. Sift flour, baking powder and salt; add enough liquid to make a soft dough. Drop by spoonfuls into the hot stew and steam, covered, ten minutes. There must be plenty of gravy to cook the dumplings successfully.

Hints on Quantity Serving for Church Luncheons and Suppers
Here is a brief table of quantity measurements for club and church parties. Cut this out and file away for reference when you will be asked to help prepare such a supper.

Bread and butter; a one pound sandwich loaf, spread with one half pound creamed butter makes sandwiches for sixteen to eighteen. Salad Dressing: One pint of French dressing serves sixteen to twenty salads; mayonnaise or cooked dressing, one pint serves twenty to thirty salads. Fruit cocktail, or fruit, cup: three quarts makes twenty-four to thirty-six servings.

Lamb Stew
Two pounds lamb; one quart potato cubes; one pint quartered carrots; one pint small, peeled onions; one cup tomatoes; one fourth teaspoon pepper; one tablespoon flour; one half teaspoon paprika; two tablespoons chopped parsley. Cut meat in small pieces and roll in flour to which the salt and pepper have been added. Brown in hot fat. Cover with boiling water and stew slowly for one and a half hours. Add vegetables and seasonings and cook an additional thirty minutes. Add dumplings and cover closely, cook ten minutes without lifting the cover. Remove the stew to a hot platter surround with the dumplings, sprinkle with finely chopped parsley.

Radio Chronology Traced To 640 B.C.; Many 'Firsts'

Real History, However, Started By Marconic in 1895; Dempsey-Carpentier Fight Was First on Air

IN ITS 1936 year book, the radio trade paper, "Broadcasting" traces radio chronology all the way back to 640 B. C., which is the beginning of the world in the field of electricity.

That year, according to the magazine, Thales of Miletus discovered that by rubbing amber it acquired the electric property of attracting small straws.

However, the real story of radio begins in the year 1895, when Guglielmo Marconi sent and received wireless signals near Bologna, Italy. Radio, then, is 41 years old.

YES, WE KNOW OLD FARMERS LIKE THIS

Dad had been ill for several weeks, but was still keenly interested in the way the farm work was being carried on.
"Dave," he said, "how are the cows going?"
"Not too bad," Dave vouchsafed. "Gettin' about ten gallons a day."
"Ain't so bad," dad agreed. "How much skim milk are we sellin'?"
"Nine gallons a day, dad."
"How much cream?"
"Three gallons an' a bit, dad."
The man in the bed did a bit of complicated mental addition. Then his smile vanished. "Wot th' 'ell are you doin' with the rest?" he demanded.

FAVORITES VICTORS IN FIRST SESSION OF TOURNAMENT

WALNUT SEXTET DEFEATS DARBY, GAINING FINALS

Jackson, Ashville, Williamsport Go Into Second Round; C. A. C. Hall Filled

The annual cage tournament was well under way today with no upsets marring the usual order of things in Friday evening's games. Ashville, tournament favorite— if there is any favorite—came through, 34-18, with colors flying over a battling and never-say-die Monroe-twp crew; Jackson-twp took Washington-twp, 24-11, after killing 2-8 at the half; Williamsport had too much power for Atlanta and won, 26-19, although the Perry-twp boys came within two points of tying it up in the final period, and Walnut-twp girls knocked off Darby-twp lassies, 16-12, in a well-played and hotly contested ball game.

The Darby girls were winners of the league championship race, but could not effectively combat Walnut's superior set of guards.

Two Sessions Today

The session this afternoon started at 1 o'clock with New Holland and Darby boys meeting. This evening's program opens at 7. Basketball fans from every nook and cranny in the county filled the Athletic club gymnasium for the opening session. All seats were filled, the attendance giving an indication of what to expect when the semi-finals are reached. Every team playing last night was well-represented by followers.

The Jackson-Washington game was one of those things in the first half with the Fox P. O. boys missing shot after shot under the net. Washington took advantage of this and went into a lead. Bob Terhune, Jackson coach, put on the pressure between halves and the boys came out to do what was expected of them. Thompson was especially effective under the net in the second half.

Ashville had little trouble with Monroe after sweeping into a 9-3 lead at the first period. The halftime score was 18-4. From there on Al Kauber's boys coasted although Monroe did some scoring on a reserve team late in the game.

Young, Gregg in Form

Forrest Brown's Monroe boys never gave up despite the long Ashville lead and were playing just as hard at the end of the game as when it started. Young and Gregg were effective for the Harrison-twp outfit.

Williamsport, represented by one of its best teams in a moon, grabbed a 12-4 first period edge, and held it. Perry outscored the Deercreekers, 6 to 5 in the second period and 8 to 3 in the third but could not overcome the margin. Morrison, Gibson and Hanson did a lot of offensive work for Emil Haney's quintet while Corcoran's guarding of Bob Campbell, Atlanta's star, was a feature. The work of Dud Steele, Atlanta guard, in taking the ball off the bank was a highlight.

Walnut girls were just too good

For Darby although Skinner and Mouser kept the Derby sextet in the game. Christy was the shining light offensively for the winners while Peters and Updyke, veterans, were splendid. The Near girls did a lot of good defensive work for Darby.

The victory puts Walnut in the finals against the winner of the Pickaway Ashville game to be played today.

Too Much Heat

The only drawback to the Friday evening tournament was the heat. The thermometer showed between 70 and 75 before the first game and by the time the crowd started to "radiate" the temperature must have passed 80. Referee Kroger Babb (who did his usually good job) warned tournament managers to open doors as an aid to the players.

WILDCATS HAVE CHANCE TO DEFEAT PURDUE FIVE

CHICAGO, Feb. 22—(UP)—A chance to knock off Purdue out of the Big Ten basketball league awaits Northwestern tonight, when they play a return engagement at Patten gymnasium.

The Boilermakers, hot after their ninth championship since 1921, have won eight games and lost none. Northwestern has won three and lost four.

Four other games are scheduled tonight: Wisconsin at Indiana; North Central at Chicago; Michigan at Iowa and Minnesota at Illinois.

About This And That In Many Sports

Good Indications

The opening session of the court tourney left nothing to be desired and gave indications that some real basketball will be seen—Ashville appeared in form with the tournament jinx finally wearing off. Williamsport proved that it will be a contender, while Jackson, after a terrible first half, showed that it might go strong against Muhlenberg, its next foe.

Babb Truck Victim

The work of Ref Krog Babb was pleasing to watch—He had the crowd with him from the start, and seemed to be in his usual good form. Babb arrived in town about 10 minutes before time for the first game after being bumped by a truck near Mt. Sterling.

Steele Clever Guard

The work of Dud Steele, Atlanta guard, in taking the ball off the bank-board was outstanding in the first round—This boy, who keeps the ball back-court too long for his team's good after he gets it, was never tied up by the hard-driving Williamsport boys. Bob Campbell, Atlanta's offensive star, was well-guarded by Ted Corcoran.

UNION-CO TEAM CLINCHES TITLE

Marysville Bumps Tigers While Delaware is Losing

Marysville clinched the Central Buckeye league championship Friday evening by defeating the local high school team in a lopsided 37-17 game while Westerville was bumping Delaware, 36-29.

The teams have only one game remaining and should Delaware win and Marysville lose, Jerry Kingsmore's youths could not be topped.

Although no box score has been turned in on the Red and Black game in Marysville the team must have been in poor form since the 37-17 beaten is the worst administered this year.

In the other league game Bexley surprised by bumping Grandview, 29 to 24.

DISCOVERY HAS MARGIN IN SANTA ANITA EVENT

SANTA ANITA RACE TRACK, ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 22—(UP)—Fifty thousand persons began crowding into the stands here today to see 14 horses challenge Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery in a race for one of the world's richest purses.

Discovery, pride of Vanderbilt's Sagamore farm, was racing for more than the purse in the $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap. The son of Display and Ariadne was laying claim to the title of the greatest thoroughbred in the past decade.

Challengers who had met and on rare occasions defeated Discovery were back to again match strides with the five-year-old chestnut colored champion.

Of the horses that had defeated Discovery before when given strong pulls in weight, A. A. Barone's Top Row and Mrs. F. A. Carreau's Time Supply were rated the real contenders today.

TITLE OF BAA CHASE DECIDED AT DELAWARE

COLUMBUS, Feb. 22—(UP)—Settlement of the Buckeye conference basketball race may be made tonight at Delaware when the University of Cincinnati and Ohio Wesleyan meet.

The contest headlines a nine game program involving state teams.

Cincinnati, victor in eight Buckeye games, needs only a victory tonight to gain undisputed possession of the conference title.

If the Bearcats secure the crown it will be their third undisputed title in the 11 year history of the Buckeye. They had clear claim to the championships in 1926 and 1928 and shared in the titles in 1929 and 1930. No league member has yet won three undisputed championships.

Early in the season in a game at Cincinnati, the Bearcats beat Wesleyan 26 to 24.

ASHVILLE MAYOR APPOINTS TWO VILLAGE OFFICIALS

LINDSEY, WARD GIVEN APPROVAL BY TOWN DADS

Local Attorney Expected to Be Appointed Solicitor for Another Term

ASHVILLE, Feb. 22.—Appointments of Marshal Marvin Lindsey as street commissioner, and O. P. Ward as sewer superintendent by Mayor Harry Margulis, were approved by city council this week. Both officers will serve one-year terms. Ordinances passed several weeks ago fixing salaries of these officers were repealed and they will serve under existing legislation which provides a small annual salary in addition to an hourly wage for their services. No village solicitor has yet been named but on reliable authority it is indicated Emmitt L. Crist of Circleville, who served during the last four years, has tentatively agreed to accept the appointment. Indications are his appointment will be made at the next meeting of council. Mr. Crist had charge of the legal work connected with the PWA projects being secured for the village, and he proved of much assistance to the town's officials.

Wallace will call a conference of land-grant college experts, extension service officials and soil-conservation experts to work out a detailed administrative program. Tax Program Ready President Roosevelt, meanwhile, is expected to send a tax program to congress to raise $500,000,000 a year to replace processing taxes knocked out when the Supreme court held the AAA unconstitutional six weeks ago. The recommendations are expected next week. The temporary two-year soil conservation program, to be replaced in 1938 by 48 state "little AAA's," was jammed through both houses despite strong opposition in the senate from those who doubted its constitutionality and in the house by representatives of dairy-ing districts.

The second grade has a sand table consisting of log cabins, figures of the Abraham Lincoln period and trees which have different animals in them. Next we plan to have a Washington sand table. We have made Valentine girls and placed them above our black board as a border.

The 8th grade is now using an English workbook as a source of supplementary material for English.

Best spelling records for this semester are held by Thelma Ray and Charlotte Dunnick. Each has a perfect record except for one day's spelling.

When our papers were all removed from the bulletin board at the end of the first semester, we found that Thelma Ray had the most papers on exhibition, closely followed by Charlotte Dunnick, Charlotte Courtright, Florence Smith, Ralph Carley, and William Martin.

The Ashville Bronches took to the road again last Friday night traveling to Williamsport where they barely eked out a victory over a determined Monroe squad by a score of 24 to 18. The game was a nip-and-tuck affair, both teams playing a hard but rather rough game and having the crowd in a continual uproar throughout the game. The Monroe team held a 9 to 7 advantage at the intermission but Ashville regained the lead early in the third canto, which they held the rest of the game. Long of Monroe kept his team in the running until the last two minutes of play when Young sank two foul shots, followed closely by a long shot by Gray, which gave the Bronches a lead which Monroe could not overcome.

The Monroe team will have a chance for revenge this Friday night at the C. A. C. hall when they tangle with their conquerors in their first tournament engagement. A great battle is expected.

The Monroe girls, with whom Ashville girls were tied for fourth place in the county league, must have been off form or something as the latter had little trouble disposing of them 25 to 10. This and a little luck in drawing on Saturday put Ashville in the tournament where they have been every year so far.

Do you have a recipe for Brazil Nut Cookies?

Brazil Nut Cookies are rich and desirable to serve with teas, snack unches. Use these ingredients:

- Brazil Nut Cookies
- 2 eggs, separated
- 4 Tbsp. thin cream
- 2 C. confectioner's sugar
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 3 C. finely ground Brazil nuts, measured after grinding

Beat the egg yolks and add them to the sugar, cream and salt. Mix the nuts, then fold in the whites of the 2 eggs, beaten until stiff. Line pans or cookie sheet with waxed paper and drop the cookie mixture into it by teaspoonfuls. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until browned lightly, for 25 to 30 minutes. Cool somewhat before removing paper.

Do you have a recipe for chocolate tea bread? It can be used for sandwiches or as cake.

Chocolate Tea Bread, used for sandwiches, may be filled with cream cheese blended with orange marmalade or with chopped nuts for the filling.

- Chocolate Tea Bread

What is the best way to cook rice?

The method of cooking should depend on whether you want the rice for use in whole, distinct grains or a well cooked mass. For whole grains, the rice is best boiled. For one cup of rice, use 2 quarts boiling water, 3 teaspoons salt. Wash the rice thoroughly in several waters, until all the loose starch is removed. Drain. Have the boiling water ready in a deep saucepan, add salt, slowly drop in the rice and allow to boil for 12 to 25 minutes. When cooked enough that a grain, pressed between the thumb and finger, is entirely soft, turn the rice into a colander or sieve. A little hot water may be run through the rice to wash off extra starch. After the water has drained off, cover with a cloth and set over a pan of hot water or place in the oven in a shallow pan to swell the grains and separate them.

Down-to-earth drama of vital human emotions in setting as robust as it is new.

Jean Harlow and Spencer Tracy as a new romantic team. Miss Harlow as a brunette for the first time since her celebrated portrayal of "Red Headed Woman."

A supporting cast headed by the screen's first-ranking comedienne, Una Merkel, and Joseph Calleia of "Public Enemy" fame.

A group of outstanding players, including Victory Killian, Mickey Rooney, J. Farrell MacDonald, Juanita Quigley, Paul Hurst, Vince Barnett, Dorothy Appleby and Judith Wood.

Directed by J. Walter Ruben from a powerful story by Frances Marion, with screen play by Miss Marion, W. W. Hanemann and Anita Loos.

That is a quick summary of "Riffraff," which opens Sunday at the Cliftona Theatre as one of the exceptional features on the new Metro-Goldwyn-Myers program.

"Riffraff" is a story of a guy and his gal—elemental, vital, earthy people. They live and work on the waterfront, and that is their world. What they lack in book education they make up in wisdom taught in the world's greatest school—the streets.

AT THE GRAND

Genuine rural music, of the wheezy, scrappy kind, that occasionally sweeps up to inspirational melody, fills many of the scenes of Fox Film's picturization of that great American drama, "Way Down, East," coming Sunday to the Grand Theatre.

With the musical saw and bow as its featured instrument, the band which is seen in the country dance scenes of the picture, consists of bass viol, accordion, violin and harmonica.

Winfield Sheehan produced the picture, which was directed by

THE MILK MAN NEEDS HIS BOTTLES

Henry King, Starring Rochelle Hudson and Henry Fonda, it tells the moving story of a woman who had been betrayed, and who fought bigotry and scandal for the right to love again.

AT THE CIRCLE

In "Mister Hobo," his second GB picture, George Arliss gets well away from the type of part usually associated with his name. His role is that of an unworthy trampidealist and its costume angle is the lack of it. Humor predominates in the story development.

The plot of "Mister Hobo," playing Sunday and Monday at the Circle Theatre, satirizes modern finance and the financial charlatans who floats companies on pie crust and promises. Arliss is an old down-and-out who, because his name happens to be Rothschild, is corralled by one of these gentry and made president of a bank, in the justified belief that his name will pull the the public.

NAMES
in the NEWS
ONE of the first things a cub reporter learns is that names make news. There are two kinds of names which make news. Names of people. And names of things—products and services—things which touch you more closely than the thunderings of a Senator or the escapades of a Prince.
Look through the advertisements in this newspaper and you'll see dependable names—names that stand for value—announcing improvements in quality, improvements in service, new and better ways to perform old household tasks, ways to save money and raise your standard of living.
Follow the news those names are making, day after day. Read the advertisements regularly, and use them as other persons are doing—to keep up-to-date in the world of goods and services; to save time, effort and trouble in shopping; to help budget your expenditures and get the most for your money.

WASHINGTON HUMAN Even as You and I

GEORGE WASHINGTON was a very human person, with a personality that appealed to all groups of the public. This delightful description of him appears in that comprehensive and intriguing volume by Professor Charles A. Beard and Mary Beard, "The Rise of American Civilization".

"Washington loved the best of clothes, super-fine scarlet cloth, gold lace, ruffled shirts and silver buckles."

"Whatever goods you may send me," he wrote to his factor in London, "let them be fashionable."

LIKED GOOD WINES

"His taste for good wines was known far and wide; though temperate for his day, he usually took four or five glasses of Madeira for dinner and finished off with a good draught of beer and a small glass of punch."

"A good horseman himself, Washington had a passion for horse races and indulged it by contributing to racing purses, entering his own steeds, attending the contests, and betting cautiously on his favorites."

"He heartily enjoyed games of chance; in his diary he often records 'bad weather, at home all day over cards'; but his bets were never extravagant. The largest winning entered in his account is three pounds and his largest loss nine pounds and fourteen shillings—equivalent to three or four hundred dollars in modern times."

SOME OF HIS PLEASURES

"Theater, circuses, and cock fights had an irresistible appeal for him. He was at the front at country balls in his neighborhood, in moderate drinking bouts at the tavern, and in fox-hunting parties."

"His own home was the scene of constant merry-making. In two months during the year 1768 he entertained at dinner or had guests for 29 days and dined away from home on seven, with other diversions in the meantime."

"Between his social obligations and the management of his estate, Washington had little time for literature, even in the days before heavy duties of state fell to his lot. In the journal that tells how he spent his hours, he entered in his youth two notices of works he had read. After that he either found no book worthy of mention or gave up reading entirely."

STRIKERS ALLOW COAL SHIPMENTS TO TIRE COMPANY

AKRON, Feb. 22—(UP)—Fifty-one carloads of coal were moved into the strike besieged Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. plants today under a preliminary court order to avert an estimated $1,000,000 frost damage to equipment.

Picket lines relaxed peacefully to permit the coal to pass. At the same time, representatives of the striking workers prepared to oppose any ruling against mass picketing.

An effort of city officials to bring together strikers and the company management failed when a Goodyear spokesman said such negotiations would break faith with "a majority of Goodyear workers who want to work."

APPOINTMENT OF OFFICERS SUSTAINED IN CIVIL TEST

NEW FARM PROGRAM READY

DAVIS, WALLACE TO CALL CONFAB OF U. S. LEADERS

House Votes 267-97 for Soil Conservation Plan of Government

TO REPLACE OUSTED AAA

25,000,000 Acres to Be Removed from Cultivation; President to Sign

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—(UP)—The New Deal geared its administrative machinery today to spend $500,000,000 in removing 25,000,000 acres from cultivation this year under the new farm relief program nearing enactment.

The soil conservation act designed to replace the invalidated AAA was passed late yesterday by the house and immediately sent to the senate, which approved it in slightly different form last week. The vote was 267 to 97.

The senate may approve the house bill vesting vast new powers in the secretary of agriculture or send it to a conference of house and senate agricultural leaders for adjustment with the milder senate measure.

Short Delay Probable

In either case the bill probably will reach President Roosevelt early next week and receive his immediate signature. Department of agriculture officials, however, expect a delay of several weeks before administrative details of the program are worked out.

Chester C. Davis, AAA administrator who will direct the new program, meanwhile, appealed to farmers to plant portions of their land in erosion-controlling crops. He asked them to have sufficient confidence in the new program to make the switch in crops before they know definitely what the government will do for them in return.

Davis estimated 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 acres of land would be switched from intense production crops to soil-conserving crops this year under the new program. Last year, under the AAA, 34,000,000

1,000 STRICKEN, TYPHOID SERUM RUSHED TO CITY

Immediate Innoculation of Every Person in Coshocton Ordered Today

SUSPECT WATER SUPPLY

Town Practically Closed; Health Reports No One in Serious Condition

COSHOCTON, Feb. 22—(UP)—Health Commissioner J. D. Lower ordered the immediate inoculation of every man, woman and child in Coshocton today. Approximately 1,000 of the town's 10,000 citizens were ill from a mysterious intestinal infection believed to have been caused by contaminated drinking water.

A huge shipment of anti-typhoid serum arrives today from Columbus. Dr. Lower, assisted by local physicians, will begin inoculations immediately. No compulsion can be used, but the health commissioner felt that all citizens would submit voluntarily to end possibility of a typhoid epidemic.

Water Supply Suspected

Dr. Lower suspected that the mysterious intestinal ailment was caused by colon bacilli, often identified with typhoid fever. Chemical analysis of the city's water supply showed presence of this bacillus.

The many illnesses and the threat of more had all but closed down the town. All schools were closed, many businesses were closed, public meetings of all descriptions had been banned—even a high school basketball game was cancelled.

No one now ill is in a serious condition, although Dr. Lower feared that some cases might develop into typhoid.

Many Coshocton citizens were inoculated against typhoid last summer when a flood threatened to contaminate the city water supply. They will not have to be inoculated again.

FDR DISCUSSES 'MIND FREEDOM'

3,000 Hear Address at Temple's Founder Day Rites

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22—(UP)—President Roosevelt spoke "freely today upon the necessity of 'freedom of the mind' in education."

"True education depends upon freedom in the pursuit of truth," he told 3,000 persons celebrating Founder's day at Temple university which awarded Mr. Roosevelt the honorary degree of doctor of jurisprudence.

"No group," he said, "and no government can properly prescribe precisely what should constitute the body of knowledge with which true education is concerned. The truth is found when men are free to pursue it."

"It is this belief in the freedom of the mind, written into our fundamental law and observed in our every day dealings with the problems of life, that distinguishes us as a nation."

Mr. Roosevelt took advantage of the Washington anniversary to issue in satiric vein a warning against the current practice of citing quotations from the works of historical personages.

"George Washington," Mr. Roosevelt said, "deeply appreciated the importance of education in a republic and the responsibility of the government to promote it. Let this simple statement stand by itself without the proof of quotation."

FLOOD MENACES OHIO VALLEY AS RELIEF IS SPED

Ice Gorge Breaks, Trapping Many Families; Rescue Attempts Made

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 22—(UP)—Flood menace from the surging, ice-choked Ohio river increased today after a temporary break in the gorge between Newburg, Ind., and Owensboro, Ky., flooded much lowland and threatened vast damage.

The stream climbed a foot in 14 minutes during the break and last night stood at 39.3 feet, more than four feet above flood stage.

Lighthouse keeper George Peck and his family were marooned in a flimsy house on stilts at the mouth of the Green river after a cutter failed to break through ice to them.

Engineers stood by the $600,000 Mead-Johnson river-rail terminal here as huge floes threatened to sweep away its weakened piers. They were prepared to blast the ice with dynamite.

The heavy ice is backed up stream 100 miles from the tremendous gorge at Uniontown, Ky., which has created a dam.

Meteorologist M. S. Collon said that if the upstream gorge broke first it would shoot the stream eight feet above flood stage and send down ice that would crush everything in its path.

Red Cross officials in Washington dispatched Disaster Worker Charles W. Carr to Evansville to care for distressed families.

Twelve persons were rescued by coast guardsmen this week from an island near Henderson, Ky., after floods inundated their homes.

U. S. Chief Engineers C. J. Rhodes at Paducah, Ky., said he expected no immediate trouble below Uniontown because of a clear stream. A heavy rain, however, would prove dangerous, he said.

RENICK TO ENTER RACE FOR STATE U. S. SENATE JOB

Republican Chairman Has His Petition in Circulation in County

ONLY CANDIDATE IN FIELD

Pickaway G. O. P. May Send Eight to State Convention; Dates Not Fixed

Tom A. Renick, attorney and chairman of the Pickaway Republican executive committee today announced his candidacy for the nomination for senator from the 10th Ohio district, which includes Pickaway and Franklin cos.

Petitions are being circulated by friends.

Mr. Renick's announcement has been expected for quite a while. The district at present is represented by Paul G. Gager, Republican, and August Wagner, Democrat, residents of Columbus.

It has been a long while since Pickaway-co has had proper representation in the state senate, and business and political leaders, Democratic and Republican, believe something should be done about it. W. I. Springer of Dayton served in the senate several years ago and C. C. Chappelow preceded him several years.

No Democrat has announced candidacy, although G. K. Hunsicker, W. Union-st., is circulating his petition for his second term in the House of Representatives. Mr. Hunsicker's work in the interest of the county has been above reproach.

An election similar to that of four years ago is a possibility in Pickaway-co with all four men who contested at that time now in the race.

Ralph E. May and Burr Rader, Democrats, who were elected commissioners, are seeking their party's nominations again, while Marvin Dreisbach and Edgar Beatty whom May and Rader defeated, are back in the Republican race, seeking the nomination.

There are many other candidates for the nominations in the two parties.

Pickaway-co's quota for the Republican state convention will be four delegates and four alternates, according to a notice received by the Board of Elections from the Republican State Central committee.

Candidates for the positions must file with the Board of Elections by March 13. They will be elected at the primary. The quota is established on the basis of one delegate and one alternate for each 1000 votes.

Dates for the convention have not been established. Electors will be named at the convention for each congressional district and their names will appear on the election ballot.

No information has been received locally from the Democratic state convention.

ASSEMBLY RESUME JOB; MEASURES STUDIED

'Sitdown' Strike Within and Pickets Without

At the right, Faye Hesson, one of the pickets, is holding up a sleeve torn from a rubber worker who tried to enter the plant. ### Members Meet Tuesday After Month's Rest; Fate of Measures Uncertain

COLUMBUS, Feb. 22.—(UP)—A month's adjournment for the Ohio general assembly will end here Tuesday when members return to consider measures which were blocked earlier by budget and relief consideration.

Unemployment insurance, social security legislation, and Governor Davey's item vetoes of the new budget will, will no doubt be the big issues before the legislature. The Boyd unemployment insurance bill passed the house on Jan. 16, by a large majority, 92 to 11, will be before the Senate. The bill is still in the hands of the Senate welfare committee, which has been conducting hearings since the adjournment.

To Consider Bill

The committee is scheduled Tuesday to consider proposed amendments to the bill, before deciding whether there shall be further hearings.

The fate of other social security bills, including provision for additional funds for mothers' pensions, dependent children, needy blind and crippled, all designed to enable Ohio to share in the allocation of federal funds for these purposes, is uncertain.

These bills have likewise passed the house, and must be considered by the senate.

Expressions were heard on some sides that the session would last but a few days, and practically eliminate time for consideration of the security bills.

What action the assembly takes with regard to the governor's veto of items totaling $3,002,000 in the new $90,000,000 biennial appropriations budget bill, will be decided after the law-makers return here and have an opportunity to study the situation.

Advance indications were that a majority of both houses are opposed to passing all the vetoed appropriations over the governor's disapproval.

Three-Fifths Needed

A three-fifths majority in each

JOURNALISM

(An Editorial)

What qualities must one have to be a good journalist?

Many times during the current year this question has been asked. The question began when a journalism class was to be selected from long list of applicants. Later still, many underclassmen have been inquiring this same question.

Many qualities are necessary in order to become a good journalist. First, one must ask oneself, "Am I fitted for journalism?" Just the fact that one was a scribe for one's Girl Scout troop or that one wrote news for the annual is not sufficient evidence to assure one success as a journalist. There are many types of journalists but for the average news gatherer there are perhaps seven necessary qualities. First, a good background of English fundamentals is needed in order to insure lucid writing.

Next, a most important part of a journalist's makeup is reliability. This point cannot be stressed too much. Unless reliable a journalist is almost worthless.

In order to lift himself above the crowd, a good writer must also have both originality and imagination. Even in factual writing such as is done in newswork, these qualities are of the utmost importance.

Ambition, too, is as needed in a journalistic career as it is in any other field of work.

Also an essential, and especially in newspaper work, is accuracy. Once, and only, can stories go to press. Accuracy must be assured. Lastly, and that which is the under tone of all writing of newswork, is adaptability. In many fields this is the ability to adjust oneself to any situation; in journalistic work this is primarily the faculty of being able to rank things, happenings, or facts, in the order of their importance.

THE EDITOR.

INNOVATION TO BE MADE IN JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

Something new and novel in the way of Class plays will be presented this year by the members of the Junior Class of Circleville high school.

This year's Junior Class play "The Boomer" will feature, instead of story or dialogue as has been done in the past, costumes of the early twentieth century style.

This type of feature has been added to the production in the hope that more enthusiasm will be created by it than by a play of the present era.

Rosemary Hammel and Eleanor Radcliff will be in charge of making this new and important feature a success; they are in charge of the costumes.

The members of the cast, who have already been selected and are practicing diligently, are Dorothy Avis, Jack E. Brown, Jack Brown, Wahnita Barnhart, Ruby Chalfin, Joe Cook, Jessie Dresbach, Faye Elliot, Don Henry, Montford Kirkwood, Rosemary Neuding and John Rankin.

"The Boomer" is a play by Howard Reed with Longmans, Green and Company as the publishers.

The play is to be presented in the High School auditorium Thursday and Friday, March 12 and 13. Tickets will be sold by members of the Junior Class starting March 2, while reserve seat tickets will be sold at the Hamilton and Ryan drug store on March 10. Proceeds from this play will help finance the Junior-Senior banquet.

Those who desire to enter must sign up not later than Friday, February 28. The principal will determine whether or not students are eligible to compete. Only the upper 35 percent of the class may enter.

Also an Ohio State university agricultural Examination will be given on March 28 at 1:00 p. m.

Any senior may take this test and no charge is made for the examination.

MISS RAINS HONORED, BUT AGE IS SECRET

The seniors in room 10, having been tense and dignified for so long a period, burst forth Friday afternoon with a genuine furor for "ye dear old teacher."

The recipient was Miss Rains, jester of one-half the senior pupils. Friday morning on entering room 10, a big "Happy Birthday" was written across the front board. After everyone had assembled the "dignified upperclassmen" sang "Happy Birthday, Dear Teacher."

Everything remained dignified until Friday noon when with the raising of a crutch the heavens seemed to open and fruits of all sorts poured forth; seemingly a Cornucopia.

When the avalanche was over a bright young gentlemanlike senior, namely Rich Harman asked Miss Rains how old she was.

Miss Rains replied, "Well, last year I was sweet sixteen so that makes me about seventeen this year."

DR. JONES SPEAKS TO TEACHER MEETING

At a meeting of the Circleville Teachers' Association Monday afternoon, Dr. Howard Jones spoke upon the subject, "The History of Circleville."

In his address Dr. Jones narrated the high lights in the history of this city. He spoke of the famous mounds constructed by the Mound Builders on the present site of Circleville.

The effects of climate and geographic conditions upon the growth of Circleville were explained by the speaker.

To conclude his talk, Dr. Jones read a poem written by an early resident of Circleville describing the town.

At the close of the address many members of the audience expressed the hope that Dr. Jones would return at some future date and relate additional information upon the subject.

GIRL SCOUT TROUP RECEIVES NEW MEMBERS

An investiture ceremony of the High School Girl Scout troop was held Thursday night for Margaret Riegel, Arrabelle Thorne and Mary Catherine Trump.

Miss Eleanor Ryan, captain of the troop, led in the ceremony, assisted by Miss Ethel Kirchofer. Lighted candles were used by each girl.

STUDENT OPINION

Do you think that Circleville high school should have a dramatics class?

Eva Mae Kanode, Senior: I think that we should have such a course in C. H. S. because in high school we lay the foundation for our life. Many students have a talent that should be developed and they may never again find such an opportunity to do so.

Jack Brown, Junior: No! We have enough dramatics in the class plays and one or two others presented during the year. Dramatics take too much time.

Mary Crites, Junior: Yes, I think that we should have a Dramatics class because we have sufficient talent. A dramatics class would give the pupils a chance to show their ability to act, and I believe everyone would be willing to participate.

John Griffith, Senior: Under the present crowded conditions a dramatics class would be only an added burden. But if conditions are improved, as planned, I think a dramatic class would be a great success.

Louise Helwegson, Sophomore: Yes, the plays that we have had, have proven that ability to act and talent are available, and should be given an opportunity to cultivate this.

Wanda Seymour, Freshman: Yes, because some people who are ambitious and can act, may not have a chance to do so. I think a dramatics class would be "swell."

Annual Lent Services to Open Season

Most Churches Plan Exercises Wednesday; Day of Prayer is Friday

Wednesday marks the beginning of the annual Lenten season with all churches of the city and community to usher in the period with services.

Many special sermons are planning Wednesday evening with Lenten subjects.

On Friday the annual Day of Prayer will be observed by union services in the Methodist Episcopal church at 2 p. m. The public is welcome to this service.

In 1935, more than fifty countries kept the World Day of Prayer. These meetings are always held on the first Friday in Lent.

The Day begins in New Zealand and the Fiji Islands and as the day progresses, new groups in city, town, countryside and hamlet, join in praise and prayer, until after some forty hours, the day ends at Gambell on St. Lawrence Island, off the coast of Alaska—30 miles from the date line and the same distance from the Arctic Circle.

All these groups are using the one theme for meditation and prayer, "On Earth Peace—Goodwill Toward Men" and are praying that we may be one in our service for Jesus Christ, that barriers of race and class may be broken, that men may find the way by which individuals and nations can live together in peace and understanding.

The program to be used this year was prepared by Senorita Laura Jorquer of Santiago, Chile. It is noteworthy that she chose to place in the heart of the program, the story of "The Christ of the Andes", the immense bronze statue on the boundary line between Argentina and Chile which commemorates the Peace Pact of 1901.

Another of the book review series will be given at the Presbyterian church Friday at 8 p. m. by Mrs. Depew Head.

People Before Property

Jesus often warned against putting money first in life. Life consists not in the abundance of things possessed. In the storms of life it is the presence of Christ with us that counts. He gives peace that money cannot buy.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Luke 8:1-56

In healing a man possessed of evil spirits Jesus permitted the spirits to go into a herd of swine which then rushed into the sea and were drowned. Their owners ordered Jesus to leave because they cared more for hogs than for men.

A woman sick twelve years gave all she had to get health. At last she touched Jesus in a crowd and her faith was rewarded with healing.

The only daughter of Jairus lay dead and Jesus came and raised her to life. Jairus believed and his faith brought a blessing that no money could buy. Money is valueless in comparison with life.

COMMON PLACES

After Heine

Rain on the face of the sea,
Rain on the sodden land,
And the window-pane is blurred
with rain.
As I watch it, pen in hand.

Mist on the face of the sea,
Mist on the sodden land,
Filling the vales as daylight fails,
And blotting the desolate sand.

Voices from out of the mist,
Calling to one another:
"Hath love an end, thou more
than friend,
Thou dearer than ever brother?"

Voices from out of the mist,
Calling and passing away:
But I cannot speak, for my voice
is weak.
And . . . this is the end of my
lay.

"People Before Property"

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb. 23 is Luke 8:1-56, especially 26-37, the Golden Text being Luke 16:13, "No servant can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one and love the other; or else he will hold to one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

ALL THAT Jesus said regarding the relative value of property and life has a direct bearing on this lesson: "What doth it profit a man to gain the whole world and forfeit his life?" "Take heed, and keep yourselves from all covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth."

The first Ladies' Aid Society on record in the Christian church enrolled such names as Mary Magdalene, Joanna and Susanna, of whom we read in this chapter as "certain women who has been healed of evil spirits and infirmities, who ministered unto them of their substance." These women know that they had been enriched by Christ in things that money could not buy; and they showed their gratitude by putting their substance at Christ's disposal to enable him to extend those blessings to others.

Human Misery and Property Jesus' healing of the Gerasene demoniac, which resulted indirectly in the loss of a herd of swine, represents his estimate of the relative value of men and hogs or any other type of property. Here was a wild man suffering intolerable misery of body, mind and soul, to whom there could be nothing worth while in life, and who besides was a social menace to the community. Out of him Jesus cast a legion of evil spirits. These demons, seeing God incarnate in Jesus, desire to incarnate themselves, if not in human, then in swine's flesh, to which Jesus acceded for the moment required to rush them to destruction as they plunged into the sea. If it be asked why Jesus permitted this destruction of property let it be remembered that swine raising was to those people an illicit traffic forbidden by their laws. Despite this, Christ's action aroused great indignation in the community.

Hogs Versus Man "They went out to see what had come to pass; and they came to Jesus and found the man from whom the demons were gone, sitting clothed and in his right mind, at the feet of Jesus; and they that saw it told their how he that was possessed with devils was made whole. And all the people of the country of the Gerasenes round about asked him to depart from them." A man was saved but some hogs had been lost, and the community was so frightened and bogged down that it did not see the man "clothed and in his right mind." So they ordered Christ to leave their community. To them our Lord represented a menace because he put men where their illicit hog business.

Property vs. Life and Health The relative value of life and health as compared with property is illustrated in the healing of the woman who touched the hem of Christ's garment and in the willing to life of the "daughter of Jairus." The woman had spent all her wealth in a vain search for health only to find it through faith in Christ. Likewise, Jairus' daughter and death turned to life in his child. Money could buy neither health nor life. These came as Christ's blessings upon faith. Why, then, then, belittle faith and magnify something infinitely inferior into an "almighty dollar?"

Bluing is classified as a dye because it neutralizes the yellow in clothes, thus, making them white.

FEAR SEIZES DICTATORS

DURING the early days of 1933, the Nazi Government of Germany resorted to extreme violence to strike terror to the hearts of inharmonious elements of the German people. The "blood bath" of June 30, 1934, when Ernst Roehm, General von Schleicher and other prominent citizens, virtually all of them anti-Nazi leaders, were murdered in cold blood, was another manifestation of the surging up of emotions of fear within the breast of Hitler.

The latest recurrence of violent oppression, directed against the Jews and Catholics of Germany, may with every justification be interpreted as an evidence of another seizure of that deadly fear that so often chills the heart of the dictator. The natural reaction to this emotion is the adoption of repressive measures against defenseless and, in most instances, inoffensive groups of citizens.

Apparently, Hitler trusts no one and sees enemies every place. The same is true of Mussolini, who cannot escape the realization that the impoverishment of the Italian people is growing and the popularity of the Fascist regime declining. Il Duce is reported as being so suspicious of even his closest associates that he dares not so much as think of making provision for a successor. Potential rivals are quickly retired from public scrutiny in Italy or else buried in obscure colonial posts.

Paul H. Douglass, professor of economics at the University of Chicago, has returned from a three-month stay in Italy with the report that it is very doubtful that Mussolini's dictatorship will last another year. That of Hitler, judging by recent evidence of anxiety and instability, does not rest upon sounder foundations.

No man is really as brave and self-satisfied as he feels after finally having a tooth pulled.

Yet every once in a while you come across an old-fashioned church that still opposes sin.

In lieu of a hobby sometimes a bad habit will keep a man from getting lonesome.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

A great deal has been said in this column concerning the belief of progressive that President Roosevelt has let them down. But, in opposition political circles, there is a fear that the president, once he gets into the thick of the campaign, will resort to a dramatic maneuver of some kind that will sweep the progressives toward him again—especially the two groups that he needs. Those two groups are the near-to-the-line Socialists of the large cities and the farmers of the northwest and the northern part of the mid-west.

NO LAND UNCLAIMED
 Nor will the Roosevelt campaign forces leave any territory unclaimed.

They will strike heavily into Michigan, where Senator Vandenberg holds sway, and into Kansas, where Alf M. Landon is governor. They already claim Mr. Hoover's home state, California. And they insist they will march through Pennsylvania. But, at the moment, it does not look as if the Pittsburgh industrial region will spill enough Roosevelt votes to overcome normally Republican Philadelphia and the adjacent region.

And New England is not yet won as wholly lost. If factories and mills become very busy New England workers may have a favorable view of the New Englander.

LONDON CAMP CLAIMS OGDEN MILLS AS LATEST RECRUIT, DESERTING HOOVER

WASHINGTON—Supporters of Governor Alf Landon are claiming that Ogden Mills, Secretary of the Treasury under Hoover, has parted with his one-time chief and climbed on the Kansan's bandwagon. When Hoover began his political comeback last year, the inside word in Republican circles was that he had the moral and financial backing of Mills. . . . Lowest political temperature of the current blustery winter was reached at Springfield, Ill., on Lincoln's birthday when Secretary Ickes and Governor Gene Talmadge met for the first time. Outside of an icy "how-do-you-do" the two men said nothing to each other. . . . Sullivan and Cromwell, leading New York law firm which received a $75,000 fee to oppose the Holding Company Act, is counsel in the important Sugar Institute case now pending in the Supreme Court. A number of leading industries seek an interpretation from the Court liberalizing the anti-trust statutes. . . . Senator Lester J. Dickinson, Iowa's presidential aspirant, was the butt of much good-natured cloak-room railway following the TVA decision. Dickinson is a strong foe of TVA, and the day before the Court's decision he declared: "If there had to be a choice between the Senate and the Supreme Court I would rather see the Senate abolished."

Next day the Court upheld the TVA.

Attorney General Homer Cummings, in a frank comment on the Supreme Court:

"It's a good thing crime isn't popular, or we should probably find the Supreme Court invalidating the federal crime laws,

such as the Lindbergh kidnaping act."

INCREASED NEED

Washington headquarters of the Conference of Mayors has notified federal relief authorities that as a result of the severe and protracted cold spell, cities in all parts of the country report a marked increase in relief demands. So heavy is the unanticipated drain on local resources that the Mayors' Conference is revising its estimates for federal aid next year, and is planning to ask Congress for a $3,000,000,000 appropriation. . . . Chairman William Connery, Jr., of the House Labor Committee, is putting his bonus money to a novel use. He plans to establish a trust fund for his 11-year-old daughter. . . . Aubrey Williams, one of Harry Hopkins' five Assistant Administrators, has been definitely elevated to No. 2 man in the WPA organization. He has been given the title of Deputy Administrator, thus officially ranking him above Corrington Gill, Jacob Baker, Lawrence Westbrook, and Mrs. Ellen S. Woodward. . . . So far only nine states have enacted unemployment insurance acts to conform with the federal Social Security law.

READ THIS FIRST:
 Thora Dahl, who has left her home in Minnesota and journeyed east, obtains a position as housekeeper for an eccentric gentleman named Selwyn Marsh who lives in suburban New York. Thora meets Sherman Gordon, a friend of Marsh and his daughter, Wilma, who is away. Marsh is writing a history book and Thora helps type his notes for him. Wilma Marsh writes and displays much curiosity over the attractive housekeeper. Sherman Gordon comes to dinner. Thora realizes that Wilma seems to resent her presence in the Marsh home. Bottle Steele, a neighbor widow, who is said to have dealings on Marsh displays a cool attitude towards Thora when she drops in to talk to Marsh.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 19
 MARSH RAPPED the ash from his pipe noisily.

"Wilma's in bed now," he observed harshly. "That's where she'll be every day until noon, unless she's changed a lot. The house can't run itself. Miss Dahl does it very well. And just for that, I'm to tell her to eat in the kitchen."

"But, Selwyn," protested Mrs. Steele.

"That's the answer," he interrupted. "Miss Dahl's doing Mrs. Myron's job. She's entitled to all that goes with it, as long as she does her work. I don't mind her eating with her. She lets me alone."

"Really?"

"She's educated, and a lady. . . . for all I know. She knows more about her country than any woman I've talked to in a long time. And Paul tells me she can take her fences like a man. There was a faint suggestion of malice in Selwyn's tone.

"I see," Mrs. Steele forced herself to smile. "I'm afraid I didn't quite understand the situation. However, you should be considerate of Wilma. After all, she may not be around here a week," Marsh reminded.

"I had a world of trouble in finding someone for Mrs. Myron's place. What's the use in turning the house topsy-turvy for Wilma? She isn't going to bother her head about me."

"It's really too bad," Mrs. Steele mused gently. "That this young woman is so attractive. . . . in a fashion. You know how people are, Selwyn. They're almost sure to make remarks."

"About what?" he demanded.

"About you, my dear. And Wilma. Her friends might make her, and all of us. . . . just a little uncomfortable. Just because they don't understand."

"I can't be bothered," Marsh permitted himself to smile grimly. "Sherm was here for dinner last night. He seemed to think that Miss Dahl was all right."

"I was thinking of Sherm," Mrs. Steele said significantly. "He's a nice boy, but, after all, he's the 'stable type.'"

"So what?"

"Well, my dear, he's Wilma's closest friend. They really grew up together and . . ."

"What of it?"

"Why, you know we've always thought they would marry some day."

"Have we?"

"Of course. Sherm comes of an approachable family. They have money and position. He's a brilliant young man and has . . ."

"An overworked sense of humor," "He has everything a young girl could ask for. Wilma couldn't hope to do better than marry him. He's always been very fond of her, and I know that she likes him. Now that she is at home again, it is only natural that Sherm will be around here more than ever. It would be too bad if . . ."

"Here come the British. With a bang . . . bang!"

Singing blithely, Mr. Sherman Gordon strolled through the library window.

"Good morning, Mrs. Dorothy. Good morning, Mr. Selwyn. Did I hear that you were taking my name in vain just now? Or did I?"

"Likely," Marsh growled.

"Is the lady of the house about?"

"Wilma is sleeping," Mrs. Steele informed him promptly. "The poor child is worn out after her trip. We did New York very thoroughly while we were there. Wilma has so many friends, they kept both of us on the go," she admitted.

"You're looking very fresh and charming," Gordon assured her. "That's sweet of you, my dear. But you save those nice things for Wilma."

Gordon stood uncertainly for a moment, slapping one booted leg with his crop. He turned to Marsh. "I was riding around this way so I thought I'd lead the mare over Ellen. I mean, I was saying to Miss Dahl last night that I thought she'd like to try her out. Do you mind telling her?"

"Tell her."

"Put Ellen in one of your extra boxes. I'm in no hurry for her. In fact, she doesn't get as much exercise as she should. I believe she'll suit Miss Dahl very well. I don't think you should let a woman ride Ginger, anyway. He's not safe."

"Do you mean that your housekeeper has been riding that horse?" Mrs. Steele was startled into exclaiming.

"He's the only one I have she cares for," Marsh assured her. "That suggestion of malice again tinged his words. Dorothy Steele had an inborn fear of horses. Tordon also grinned appreciatively.

"Where do you suppose she ever learned to ride like that?" he quipped suddenly.

"She was a horse trainer," Marsh remarked dryly. "She told me so."

"You don't mean . . . a professional?"

"Didn't ask."

Gordon started to say something then thought better of it.

"Tell Wilma if she feels up to going this afternoon, I'll go around with her. She can get me at the house."

"Not working today?" Marsh suggested.

"On my vacation. I'm celebrating Wilma's return."

"She will be very glad, I know," Mrs. Steele assured him with a smile. "Selwyn," she exclaimed brightly, "Let's you and me go with the children this afternoon . . . make it a foursome!"

"Too busy."

"Now that isn't nice. I've been away and you turn down my very first request. Come along, like a good boy."

She left her chair and came to stand beside him.

"Sure," Gordon seconded hospitably. "Let your new secretary do your work while you take some exercise. Wilma tells me that Miss Dahl's a tylist. I might borrow her some day to help me with my home work."

"I'll go out a while," Marsh responded ungraciously. "If you'll clear out now and let me get to work."

That afternoon, from an upper window, Thora watched the golfers start across a nearby meadow. Mrs. Steele and Wilma in trim sports suits, walking close together, chatting.

Marsh trailed them at a distance. He had donned linen plus fours for the occasion. His head was bent and he slashed at an occasional weed with the putter that swung from his right hand. He murmured to himself through the grass at his master's heels, keeping an attentive eye on the stick.

Thora smiled to herself as she watched the little procession out of sight. Womanlike, she was allowing herself to speculate about Mrs. Steele's hair.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS
 E. D.: "Is there any permanent cure for stomach ulcers? It sometimes goes for several weeks or longer and have no trouble with my stomach. Then I grow careless, eat everything, and again the trouble develops. May I eat cooked vegetables like cabbage, tomatoes, beans, etc.? Are cooked fruits allowed? Any raw fruits or raw vegetables? Any sweets or desserts? Bread? Meat?"

Answer: Most people have the same experience that you have. The symptoms of ulcer of the stomach are notoriously likely to become quiescent and then to recur. A diet, however, should be strictly adhered to for a year or more, under which circumstances the ulcer, in most instances, heals. Well cooked vegetables are all allowed. Tomatoes, however, usually do not agree with ulcer patients. Cooked fruits are also allowed. Raw fruits or vegetables usually cause discomfort. Sweet desserts are forbidden because they usually cause pain. The same is true of bread. Bread should be taken stale or toasted. Meat is allowed and is always comforting to the ulcer patient. A glass of half milk and half cream is also very good. The three substances to be avoided are called the Three S's—Sweet, Sour and Spice.

Colors Not Equally Sharp
 In the matter of color, it is not always realized that perfectly normal eyes do not perceive all colors with equal sharpness. As you look at the spectrum or the rainbow, you will notice that the colors at the violet end tend to fade out. The color which is most readily perceived by the normal eye is yellow, next it perceives green, red, blue and violet must be made much brighter in order to experience an equal light sensation. Perhaps this is the reason so many automobile accidents occur at intersections against light signals. At any rate, in these foggy, rainy days, take extra care.

This sample, and numerous others from members of this and other teams, offer evidence of a high order of skill.

NEW IN BRIMS This Clever Hat Is Answer to a Maiden's Prayer for Something Different

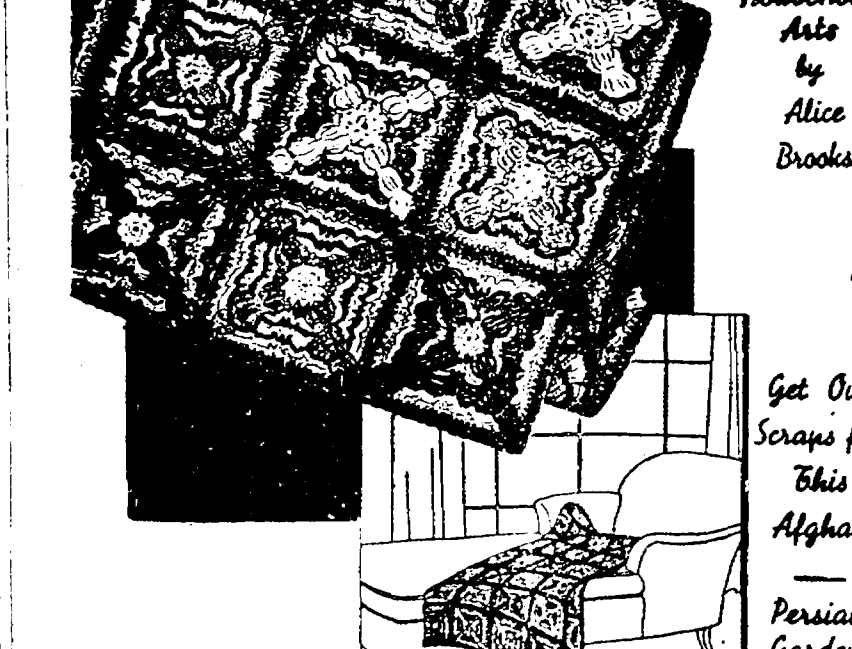

THERE ARE moments when we feel that we, personally, will never find a new hat that is becoming. We cannot wear those tiny things that perch over one eye, even when they have veils provided to lend a softening influence over our countenance. We're tired of brims because they WILL sail off when the wind blows strongly, even if we think they're firmly attached by pin or elastic. We don't like 'em shallow and we can't wear 'em high, and what else is there? Such a hat as that photographed is one answer. It has a brim, it is true, but it has a sharp turned down front effect, and a decidedly turned-up effect at the back and it sets down well on the head. The trimming consists of ribbon and white feather leaves. The hat itself is a brown ballnet. It would seem to be the answer to our prayer.

There is such a diversity of styles apparent in this season's millinery fashions. Quite a few with clever manipulations to the crowns. Many crowns are built down at the back with brims omitted, which makes them practical for immediate wear with winter wraps. Other crowns have creases and tucks. In the picture above note the clever slots which disclose the unique use of the new flowered print lining of the model's coat.

Wedding Anniversary
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Leist, Washington-twp. were honored on their fortieth wedding anniversary Friday when their niece, Mrs. Asa Elsea and Mr. Elsea, arranged a surprise dinner in the evening at their home on S. Scioto-st. in celebration of the occasion.

A covered-dish dinner was followed by a pleasant social evening. Enjoying the informal affair were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sensenbrenner and grandsons, Jimmy and Billy Sensenbrenner, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hummel, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palm, Mr. and Mrs. C. O.

You're sure to win prizes—and loud acclaim—with this beautifully designed afghan whose easy making will surprise you. It's the grandest sort of pickup work to carry with you, for you make it a square at a time, following clearly illustrated directions for the key square. Even though you're not using but tiny scraps of wool on hand—and the wool may be of different weights, too—you can obtain a lovely jeweled effect just because each square is different. You can make an attractive pillow, too.

I am giving you the recipes for three unusual, appetizing economical dishes for today's meal. Take your choice, but try them all. They are worth filling.

Today's Recipes

Fricadelli With Onions.—One-half pound ground meat (beef and pork), one egg, one-half cup milk, two tablespoons flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon minced green pepper, one tablespoon minced onion, one tablespoon minced celery, three tablespoons cooking fat, one tablespoon butter, six medium sized white onions. Peel onions, slice and cook five minutes in boiling salted water. Drain. Sauté minced celery, onion and pepper in butter until golden brown. Mix meat, egg, milk, flour, baking powder, salt and sautéed vegetables together and BEAT well. The mixture is like a very stiff batter. Have ready the frying pan with fat very hot. Drop meat mixture into fat by tablespoonsful and shape into patties. Fry only until brown on both sides and remove to a shallow casserole, cover with the onions and sprinkle over the onions two teaspoons light brown sugar. Pour over the onions the fat remaining in the pan, cover the casserole and bake for 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Remove cover during the last fifteen or twenty minutes of baking. The onions should be a delicate brown. Serves three or four.

Baked Fish With Vegetables.—One cup carrots, one cup celery, one cup onions, one clove garlic, two pounds fish, one-half cup butter, one teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, one cup bread crumbs, two tablespoons Parmesan cheese. Dice vegetables and place in a well greased two-quart casserole. Cut fish into slices, but preserve the appearance of a whole fish by not slicing through the top skin. Dip fish in melted butter, place on top of vegetables. Sprinkle with salt, pepper. To remaining melted butter, add bread crumbs. Dress top of fish with crumbs and cheese. Cover and bake for 45 minutes at 50 degrees. Paprika sprinkled over top adds color. Serves six.

Brazzoli.—One and one-half pounds round steak, two tablespoons melted fat, one large onion, one clove garlic, one red or green pepper, six sprigs parsley, six celery tops (leaves, small celery) one large can tomatoes, one can tomato paste, one pound spaghetti. Chop celery, parsley, onion, garlic and pepper very fine or run through food chopper. Cut steak in strips about five inches long and two inches wide. Spread chopped mixture on meat and roll up, using two toothpicks, or wrap with thread to hold in place. Salt and pepper generously. Place meat rolls in hot fat and fry until brown, about 25 minutes. Add tomatoes and tomato paste and cook four hours very slowly. Cook spaghetti in rapidly boiling salt water until tender, twelve to fifteen minutes. Drain through sieve, place on large platter, or on serving plates if left unbroken when cooking. Dot with butter, pour sauce on spaghetti, surround with meat rolls and sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Half a pound of mushrooms added to sauce an hour before serving improves the sauce but adds to the cost.

Marian Martin Pattern

MARIAN MARTIN DESIGNS A SIMPLE FROCK FOR PORCH-AND-HOUSE WEAR

Dusting or baking—this frock's apt to find itself in the thick of it. Worthy of the phrase "Beginner's Fashion" (for it cuts its yoke and sleeves in one)—it invites both novice and experienced dressmaker to make it up, and promises that the entire frock may be finished in just a few short hours. You'll appreciate an ample square neckline when you come to slip it over your head, and the fact it's collarless when you come to iron it. Note the high-rising skirt panels, and the way a perky sash nips round the waist? It's nice this very minute as a house frock—and for porch and garden, later. Choose percale, seersucker or gingham. Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9776 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric.

Radio Chronology Traced to 640 B.C.; Many 'Firsts'

Radio History, However, Started By Marconic in 1895; Dempsey-Carpentier Fight Was First on Air

IN ITS 1936 year book, the radio trade paper, "Broadcasting" traces radio chronology all the way back to 640 B. C., which is the beginning of the world in the field of electricity.

That year, according to the magazine, Thales of Miletus discovered that by rubbing amber it acquired the electric property of attracting small straws.

However, the real story of radio begins in the year 1895, when Guglielmo Marconi sent and received wireless signals near Bologna, Italy. Radio, then, is 41 years old.

IN THOSE 41 years radio, of course, has made tremendous strides. However, most of the development of radio as we now know it—the broadcast of sound and not just a mere electric impulse—has been crammed into the last 16 of those 41 years.

On July 28, 1915, radio telephone communication was made between the United States and France. That was nine years after Dr. Lee de Forest invented the audion—three-element vacuum tube.

However, radio as we know it was launched on Aug. 20, 1920 (16 years ago), when station WJW in Detroit operated a radio phone and, on the following Nov. 2 KDKA of Pittsburgh broadcast to an astonished nation the Harding-Cox presidential election returns.

OTHER radio firsts: The Dempsey-Carpentier fight (July 2, 1921), Princeton-Chicago football game (Oct. 28, 1922), Yankee-Giants all-New York world series (Oct. 1, 1921) were the first sporting events of their type to be broadcast.

The first commercially sponsored program was broadcast by WEA in New York, Sept. 7, 1922, for a real estate firm. The first "chain" program, Boston-New York hookup, was aired by WEA, Jan. 4, 1923. Opening of congress was broadcast for the first time, Dec. 4, 1923. Federal Radio Commission appointed by President Coolidge, March 2, 1927.

NOTES: The radio serial "Death Valley Days" will become a series of movie two-reelers. . . Canada may change from the present Canadian radio commission to one-man control. The commission's tenure of office expires March 31. Mutual network has launched a series of Saturday night dance programs which extend until 4 a. m. . . Beginning Feb. 27, New York high school students will be required to listen to the American Town Meeting programs as part of their home work. . . Cordell Hull, secretary of state, will explain trade agreement policy on other Americans program, Feb. 28. . . The NB C-WJZ network will air a Leap Year Babies birthday party, Feb. 29. . . Only those who were born on Feb. 29 will be permitted to become part of the studio audience.

WHAT LIQUOR WILL DO

Four men in evening clothes were standing on a railroad platform in Montreal recently waiting for a train. They were convivial from frequent visits to tap rooms. Joyously they were telling tales to each other. "All abroad!" shouted the conductor. Three of the men boarded the train.

Dinner Stories

YES, WE KNOW OLD FARMERS LIKE THIS

Dad had been ill for several weeks, but was still keenly interested in the way the farm work was being carried on.

"Dave," he said, "how are the cows going?"

"Not too bad," Dave vouchsafed. "Gettin' about ten gallons a day."

"Ain't so bad," dad agreed. "How much skim milk are we sellin'?"

"Nine gallons a day, dad."

"How much cream?"

"Three gallons an' a bit, dad."

The man in the bed did a bit of complicated mental addition. Then his smile vanished. "Wot th' ell are you doin' with the rest?" he demanded.

NOT THAT BAD

"Well, Mrs. Joyner," said the neighbor, "so your poor husband has joined the Great Majority?"

"Oh, don't say that, sir," said Mrs. Joyner. "I'm sure he was not as bad as all that."

YES, THAT'S USUALLY IT

Little six-year-old Harry was asked by his Sunday school teacher: "And Harry, what are you going to give your darling little brother for his birthday this year?"

"I dunno," said Harry: "last year I gave him the chicken pox."

FAVORITES VICTORS IN FIRST SESSION OF TOURNAMENT

WALNUT SEXTET DEFEATS DARBY, GAINING FINALS

Jackson, Ashville, Williamsport Go Into Second Round; C. A. C. Hall Filled

The annual cage tournament was well under way today with no upsets marring the usual order of things in Friday evening's games. Ashville, tournament favorite—If there is any favorite—came through, 34-18, with colors flying over a battling and never-say-die Monroe-twp crew; Jackson-twp took Washington-twp, 24-11, after killing 2-8 at the half; Williamsport had too much power for Atlanta and won, 26-19, although the Perry-twp boys came within two points of tying it up in the final period, and Walnut-twp girls knocked off Darby-twp lassies, 16-12, in a well-played and hotly contested ball game.

The Darby girls were winners of the league championship race, but could not effectively combat Walnut's superior set of guards.

Two Sessions Today

The session this afternoon started at 1 o'clock with New Holland and Darby boys meeting. This evening's program opens at 7.

Basketball fans from every nook and cranny in the county filled the Athletic club gymnasium for the opening session. All seats were filled, the attendance giving an indication of what to expect when the semi-finals are reached. Every team playing last night was well-represented by followers.

The Jackson-Washington game was one of those things in the first half with the Fox P. O. boys missing shot after shot under the net. Washington took advantage of this and went into a lead. Bob Terhune, Jackson coach, put on the pressure between halves and a boys came out to do what was expected of them. Thompson was especially effective under the net in the second half.

Ashville had little trouble with Monroe after sweeping into a 9-3 lead at the first period. The halftime score was 18-4. From there on Al Kauber's boys coasted although Monroe did some scoring on a reserve team late in the game.

Young, Gregg in Form

Forrest Brown's Monroe boys never gave up despite the long Ashville lead and were playing just as hard at the end of the game as when it started. Young and Gregg were effective for the Harrison-twp outfit.

Williamsport, represented by one of its best teams in a moon, grabbed a 12-4 first period edge, and held it. Perry outscored the Deercreekers, 6 to 5 in the second period and 8 to 3 in the third but could not overcome the margin. Morrison, Gibson and Hanson did a lot of offensive work for Emil Haney's quintet while Corcoran's guarding of Bob Campbell, Atlanta's star, was a feature. The work of Dud Steele, Atlanta guard, in taking the ball off the bank was a highlight.

Walnut girls were just too good for Darby although Skinner and Mouser kept the Derby sextet in the game. Christy was the shining light offensively for the winners while Peters and Updyke, veterans, were splendid. The Near girls did a lot of good defensive work for Darby.

The victory puts Walnut in the finals against the winner of the Pickaway Ashville game to be played today.

Too Much Heat

The only drawback to the Friday evening tournament was the heat. The thermometer showed between 70 and 75 before the first game and by the time the crowd started to "radiate" the temperature must have passed 80. Referee Kroger Babb (who did his usually good job) warned tournament managers to open doors as an aid to the players.

WILDCATS HAVE CHANCE TO DEFEAT PURDUE FIVE

CHICAGO, Feb. 22—(UP)—A chance to knock off Purdue out of the Big Ten basketball lead awaits Northwestern tonight, when they play a return engagement at Patten gymnasium. The Boilermakers, not after their ninth championship since 1921, have won eight games and lost none. Northwestern has won three and lost four. Four other games are scheduled tonight: Wisconsin at Indiana; North Central at Chicago; Michigan at Iowa and Minnesota at Minneapolis.

About This And That In Many Sports

Good Indications

The opening session of the court tourney left nothing to be desired and gave indications that some real basketball will be seen—Ashville appeared in form with the tournament jinx finally wearing off, Williamsport proved that it will be a contender, while Jackson, after a terrible first half, showed that it might go strong against Muhlenberg, its next foe.

Babb Truck Victim

The work of Ref Kroger Babb was pleasing to watch—He had the crowd with him from the start, and seemed to be in his usual good form. Babb arrived in town about 10 minutes before time for the first game after being bumped by a truck near Mt. Sterling.

Steele Clever Guard

The work of Dud Steele, Atlanta guard, in taking the ball off the bank-board was outstanding in the first round—This boy, who keeps the ball back-court too long for his team's good after he gets it, was never tied up by the hard-driving Williamsport boys. Bob Campbell, Atlanta's offensive star, was well-guarded by Ted Corcoran.

Many Do Well

No flowers are going in the direction of boys who are still in the tournament for fear that they can't stand prosperity—Several youths played sterling ball games.

Trophies On Display

Trophies presented by The Herald to Ashville boys and Darby girls for leading their leagues through the regular season are on display in the window of the Crist Department store today—The trophies will be awarded at the conclusion of the last session—Though Darby girls lost last night they still win recognition for their fine season's play through presentation of this trophy.

Good sportsmanship prevailed through every game last night

LAURELVILLE WIN 61-22

Laurelville won its first tournament game, 61-22, from Gibsonville in the Hocking-co tourney being played at Laurelville.

PATTY BERG DEFEATED BY VETERAN GOLF STAR

Crews of Miami by a 4 and 3 victory in the finals of the Palm Beach women's golf tournament.

UNION-CO TEAM GLINCHES TITLE

Marysville Bumps Tigers While Delaware is Losing

Marysville clinched the Central Buckeye league championship Friday evening by defeating the local high school team in a lopsided 37-17 game while Westerville was bumping Delaware, 36-29.

The teams have only one game remaining and should Delaware win and Marysville lose, Jerry Kingsmore's youths could not be topped.

Although no box score has been turned in on the Red and Black game in Marysville the team must have been in poor form since the 37-17 beaten is the worst administered this year.

In the other league game Bexley surprised by bumping Grandview, 29 to 24.

DISCOVERY HAS MARGIN IN SANTA ANITA EVENT

SANTA ANITA RACE TRACK, ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 22—(UP)—Fifty thousand persons began crowding into the stands here today to see 14 horses challenge Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery in a race for one of the world's richest purses.

Discovery, pride of Vanderbilt's Sagamore farm, was racing for more than the purse in the $100,000 added Santa Anita handicap.

The son of Display and Ariadne was laying claim to the title of the greatest thoroughbred in the past decade.

Challengers who had met and on rare occasions defeated Discovery were back to again match strides with the five-year-old chestnut colored champion.

Of the horses that had defeated Discovery before when given strong pulls in weight, A. A. Baroni's Top Row and Mrs. F. A. Carraud's Time Supply were rated the real contenders today.

The governor of New Jersey would have gone over big in the Middle Ages when they used to argue about how many angels could light on the point of a needle.

Second place in the international Froglympics went to "Jasper," with a leap of 58½ inches, and "Buddy Quinn" was third with a feeble 58 inches.

TITLE OF BAA CHASE DECIDED AT DELAWARE

COLUMBUS, Feb. 22—(UP)—Settlement of the Buckeye conference basketball race may be made tonight at Delaware when the University of Cincinnati and Ohio Wesleyan meet.

The contest headlines a nine game program involving state teams.

Cincinnati, victor in eight Buckeye games, needs only a victory tonight to gain undisputed possession of the conference title.

If the Bearcats secure the crown it will be their third undisputed title in the 11 year history of the Buckeye. They had clear claim to the championships in 1926 and 1928 and shared in the titles in 1929 and 1930. No league member has yet won three undisputed championships.

Early in the season in a game at Cincinnati, the Bearcats beat Wesleyan 26 to 24.

ASHVILLE MAYOR APPOINTS TWO VILLAGE OFFICIALS

LINDSEY, WARD GIVEN APPROVAL BY TOWN DADS

Local Attorney Expected to Be Appointed Solicitor for Another Term

ASHVILLE, Feb. 22.—Appointments of Marshal Marvin Lindsey as street commissioner, and O. P. Ward as sewer superintendent by Mayor Harry Margulis, were approved by city council this week.

Both officers will serve one-year terms. Ordinances passed several weeks ago fixing salaries of these officers were repealed and they will serve under existing legislation which provides a small annual salary in addition to an hourly wage for their services.

No village solicitor has yet been named but on reliable authority it is indicated Emmitt L. Crist of Circleville, who served during the last four years, has tentatively agreed to accept the appointment. Indications are his appointment will be made at the next meeting of council.

Mr. Crist had charge of the legal work connected with the PWA projects being secured for the village, and he proved of much assistance to the town's officials.

ASHVILLE SCHOOL NEWS

The second grade has a sand table consisting of log cabins, figures of the Abraham Lincoln period and trees which have different animals in them. Next we plan to have a Washington sand table.

We have made Valentine girls and placed them above our black board as a border.

The 8th grade is now using an English workbook as a source of supplementary material for English.

Best spelling records for this semester are held by Thelma Ray and Charlotte Dunnick. Each has a perfect record except for one day's spelling.

When our papers were all removed from the bulletin board at the end of the first semester, we found that Thelma Ray had the most papers on exhibition, closely followed by Charlotte Dunnick, Charlotte Courtwright, Florence Smith, Ralph Carley, and William Martin.

The Ashville Bronchos took to the road again last Friday night traveling to Williamsport where they barely eked out a victory over a determined Monroe squad by a score of 24 to 18. The game was a nip-and-tuck affair, both teams playing a hard but rather rough game and having the crowd in a continual uproar throughout the game. The Monroe team held a 9 to 7 advantage at the intermission but Ashville regained the lead early in the third canto, which they held the rest of the game. Long of Monroe kept his team in the running until the last two minutes of play when Young sank two foul shots, followed closely by a long shot by Gray, which gave the Bronchos a lead which Monroe could not overcome.

The Monroe team will have a chance for revenge this Friday night at the C. A. C. hall when they tangle with their conquerors in their first tournament engagement. A great battle is expected.

The Monroe girls, with whom Ashville girls were tied for fourth place in the county league, must have been off form or something as the latter had little trouble disposing of them 25 to 10. This and a little luck in drawing on Saturday put Ashville in the tournament where they have been every year so far.

Some of the pupils of the Sophomore and Senior history classes attended "The Human Adventure" which was given at the Columbus Memorial hall, February fifteenth. Those attending were Wilma Creager, Anna Bell, Helen Spindler, Roberts Cronley, Betty Hinkle, Louise Schieser, Virgie Leatherwood, Jane Alexander, William Foreman, Edgar Hodges, Charles Gray, Billy Rose, Warren Hoffman, Ira Martin, Billy Martin, Ernest Martin, and Oscar Valentine. The group was chaperoned by A. J. Kauber.

Questions and Answers

Do you have a recipe for Brazil Nut Cookies?

Brazil Nut Cookies are rich and desirable to serve with teas, snack lunches. Use these ingredients:

Brazil Nut Cookies

2 eggs, separated
4 Tbsp. thin cream
2 C. confectioner's sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
3 C. finely ground Brazil nuts, measured after grinding

Beat the egg yolks and add them to the sugar, cream and salt. Mix the nuts, then fold in the whites of the 2 eggs, beaten until stiff. Line pans or cookie sheet with waxed paper and drop the cookie mixture into it by teaspoonfuls. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until browned lightly, for 25 to 30 minutes. Cool somewhat before removing paper.

Do you have a recipe for chocolate tea bread? It can be used for sandwiches or as cake.

Chocolate Tea Bread

3 C. sifted cake flour
3 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
1 C. brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg, beaten
1/4 C. milk
2 one-oz. squares unsweetened chocolate
1/4 C. melted butter

Sift the flour with the baking powder and salt, then add the brown sugar and mix well. Add the beaten eggs to the milk and add slowly to the dry ingredients, mixing thoroughly. Melt the chocolate over hot water and add with the melted butter to the batter, stirring only until well combined. Turn into a greased loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1 1/4 hours. Cool and serve as cake or for sandwiches.

What is the best way to cook rice?

The method of cooking should depend on whether you want the rice for use in whole, distinct grains or a well cooked mass. For whole grains, the rice is best boiled. For one cup of rice, use 2 quarts boiling water, 3 teaspoons salt. Wash the rice thoroughly in several waters, until all the loose starch is removed. Drain. Have the boiling water ready in a deep saucepan, add salt, slowly drop in the rice and allow to boil for 12 to 25 minutes. When cooked enough that a grain, pressed between the thumb and finger, is entirely soft, turn the rice into a colander or sieve. A little hot water may be run through the rice to wash off extra starch. After the water has drained off, cover with a cloth and set over a pan of hot water or place in the oven in a shallow pan to swell the grains and separate them.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Down-to-earth drama of vital human emotions in setting as robust as it is new.

Jean Harlow and Spencer Tracy as a new romantic team.

Miss Harlow as a brunette for the first time since her celebrated portrayal of "Red Headed Woman."

A supporting cast headed by the screen's first-ranking comedienne, Una Merkel, and Joseph Callela of "Public Enemy" fame. A group of outstanding players, including Victory Kilian, Mickey Rooney, J. Farrell MacDonald, Juanita Quigley, Paul Hurst, Vince Barnett, Dorothy Appleby and Judith Wood.

Directed by J. Walter Ruben from a powerful story by Frances Marion, with screen play by Miss Marion, W. W. Hanemann and Anita Loos.

That is a quick summary of "Riffraff," which opens Sunday at the Cliftona Theatre as one of the exceptional features on the new Metro-Goldwyn-Myers program.

"Riffraff" is a story of a guy and his gal—elemental, vital, earthy people. They live and work on the waterfront, and that is their world. What they lack in book education they make up in wisdom taught in the world's greatest school—the streets.

AT THE GRAND

Genuine rural music, of the wheezy, scrappy kind, that occasionally sweeps up to inspirational melody, fills many of the scenes of Fox Film's picturization of that great American drama, "Way Down, East," coming Sunday to the Grand Theatre.

With the musical saw and bow as its featured instrument, the band which is seen in the country dance scenes of the picture, consists of bass viol, accordion, violin and harmonica.

Winfield Sheehan produced the picture, which was directed by

THE MILK MAN NEEDS HIS BOTTLES

Henry King. Starring Rochelle Hudson and Henry Fonda, it tells the moving story of a woman who had been betrayed, and who fought bigotry and scandal for the right to love again.

AT THE CIRCLE

In "Mister Hobo," his second GE picture, George Arliss gets well away from the type of part usually associated with his name. His role is that of an unworthy tramp idealist and its costume angle is the lack of it. Humor predominates in the story development.

The plot of "Mister Hobo," playing Sunday and Monday at the Circle Theatre, satirizes modern finance and the financial charlatans who float companies on pi-crust and promises. Arliss is an old down-and-outer who, because his name happens to be Rothschild, is corralled by one of these gentry and made president of a bank, in the justified belief that his name will pull the public.

NAMES in the NEWS

ONE of the first things a cub reporter learns is that names make news. There are two kinds of names which make news. Names of people. And names of things—products and services—things which touch you more closely than the thunderings of a Senator or the escapades of a Prince.

Look through the advertisements in this newspaper and you'll see dependable names—names that stand for value—announcing improvements in quality, improvements in service, new and better ways to perform old household tasks, ways to save money and raise your standard of living.

Follow the news those names are making, day after day. Read the advertisements regularly, and use them as other persons are doing—to keep up-to-date in the world of goods and services; to save time, effort and trouble in shopping; to help budget your expenditures and get the most for your money.

Jean Harlow at Cliftona Sunday!

Jean Harlow will be seen at the Cliftona Theatre starting Sunday in "Riffraff," a dramatic story of the waterfront. As Hattie, whose hardboiled exterior masks the softness beneath, Miss Harlow abandons her famed platinum tresses for the first time since her celebrated portrayal of "Red Headed Woman," and once again appears as a brunette. Spencer Tracy is the leading man in "Riffraff," and the supporting cast features Una Merkel, Joseph Callela.
